Cong Coalition Idea Is under Sharp Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam have assailed Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's view that the Viet Cong should be offered a share of power in the Saigon government.

They said Kennedy's proposals that the United States express willingness to accept a coalition South Vietnamese government which would include Communists would not be an acceptable solution, would not lead to peace and — if adopted — could impose on the people of South Viet Nam the very forces trying to destroy them.

Humphrey said history has demonstrated that when Fascists or Communists are included in a coalition government, there is either paralysis or takeover.

Speaking to newsmen at Wellington, New Zealand, during one of his many stops on a tour of Southeast Asia and the Pacific, the vice president said to adopt Kennedy's proposals would be like putting a fox in a chicken coop.

There wouldn't be too many chickens left, he said.

"I do not believe in writing a prescription for the ills of South Viet Nam that includes a dose of arsenic," Humphrey said. Sticking to analogies, he said further that Kennedy's suggestion would be like having an arsonist in the fire department.

Ky, queried about Kennedy's suggestion in Saigon, snapped:

"The so-called National Liberation Front does not liberate anybody. They killed 11,000 of our troops last year and 22,000 of the innocent people in the countryside. They murdered them."

"They are 1,000 per cent Communist and they are illegal," the prime minister added, "so let's not talk about the National Liberation Front any more."

Kennedy suggested Saturday that the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, must be brought to the bargaining table. To "admit them to a share of power and responsibility," the New York Democrat said, "is at the heart of a negotiated settlement."

McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to President Johnson for security affairs and an old Kennedy family friend, disagreed. Appearing Sunday on NBC's radio-television program "Meet the Press," Bundy said he did not want to comment directly on the proposals, but then added:

"I can say that the administration does not take the view that admitting the Communists to a share of the power and responsibility would be a useful or helpful step — one that would really lead to peace."

"I think our view is rather that what is needed is a sufficient degree of peace in that country and of absence of subversion and terror so there can be reasonable expression of the political feeling of the people in Viet Nam."

"We are in favor of that. We are prepared to abide by the result."

Allies Pinch Off Cong Supply Line

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Big U.S. and Allied military operations are beginning to crimp the Viet Cong supply system for the first time.

The most notable success came during Operation Van Buren, which threw nearly a division of American, Korean and Vietnamese troops into the Tuy Hoa rice bowl. Their job was to make certain the fertile coastal valley's 48,000 tons of rice wound up in government storehouses instead of Viet Cong caches.

In the past, large Viet Cong units moved into the 200-square-mile valley during the harvest and controlled more than half of it. Now, for the first time in several years, Phu Yen Province will export rice instead of importing it.

U.S. military officials said this year three regiments — two Viet Cong and one of North Vietnamese regulars — began converging on the valley 230 miles northeast of Saigon just before the harvest began a month ago.

The American 101st Airborne Brigade, the Korean marine brigade and two battalions of government troops swept the valley clear of the enemy. By the official count more than 500 Communist troops were killed.

"If any army marches on its stomach, old Charlie is in the hurt locker," a U.S. adviser in Phu Yen Province said. Charlie is an American nickname for the Viet Cong.

"The Viet Cong supply system is too good to strangle with what we have now, but taking that much rice away means real trouble for the Viet Cong highland units," said a U.S. source concerned with trying to block supplies to the enemy.

U.S. Marines near Da Nang and U.S. and government troops operating in Binh Tuy Province carried out smaller operations earlier that brought in nearly 10,000 tons of rice.

U.S. troops operating north of Saigon have run into hundreds of Viet Cong rice caches, big and small. Hundreds of tons of rice were destroyed or brought back and placed under government control.

Last year, the national police seized nearly 3,000 tons of rice at checkpoints set up to control the flow of goods from government to Viet Cong areas. They are doing even better this year.

Although Viet Nam has been fighting a civil war for years, there is no food rationing and no control over the sale of such key items as medicine and light machinery which can be used in Viet Cong arms factories.

The first tentative effort at resources control did not come until October 1964 when the national police were ordered to stop the flow of strategic goods into Viet Cong hands.

At the time there were only about 20,000 police in the country. They were still suffering from bad morale and lost reputation from the days of ex-President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Today the police are 54,000 strong and their ranks are expected to swell to 72,000 by the end of the year. A major share of the new men will be thrown into the resources control program. This type of program aided the British in crushing a Communist guerrilla uprising in Malaya.

The effectiveness of the police has increased in past months, and apparently the Viet Cong are worried. They have increased attacks on police posts and checkpoints, some on the outskirts of Saigon.

Ohio Traffic Fatal to 11 On Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Ohio weekend traffic toll grew through "Traffic Safety Sunday" to at least 11 killed, even as efforts to find the hit-skip motorist involved in one of the 54-hour period's first fatalities continued unavailing.

There were four reported deaths on Sunday, the day Gov. James A. Rhodes had proclaimed should be devoted to church efforts toward alleviating the motorist toll by appealing to drivers' moral sense.

A fire in Pike County, near Beaver, Sunday, meanwhile, claimed three lives in one swoop—those of 2-year-old twin girls and their 10-month-old sister.

The victims were Melanie and Stephanie Walters, the twins, and Patty, their sister, children of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Walters.

Officers in Worthington, north of Columbus, still were trying to trace clues in the hit-skip death early Saturday of Eric Robert Wenden, 17, an Ohio State University professor's son and a bicycling champion killed bicycling.

Last Five-Star Admiral, Chester Nimitz, Is Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The late James V. Forrestal, while secretary of the Navy, once asked his chief of naval operations whether an officer convicted by a court-martial ever had risen to flag rank.

"You're looking at one," replied Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who commanded the most powerful fleet in history during World War II.

As a young officer, the soft-spoken Texan had indeed been found guilty and reprimanded by a Navy court — for running a destroyer aground in Manila Bay.

The admiral, who died Sunday at 80, commanded a thousand ships and two million men during the battles leading to the surrender of Japan. He was the last of the five-star admirals.

Despite holding awesome power, the admiral disliked pomp. On his 75th birthday the Navy staged a big party for him and he remarked:

"Am I looking forward to this? I'm looking forward to the end of it. I feel the same about it as the man who bought himself a small boat: His two happiest days were when he bought it and when he sold it."

Nimitz was jumped over 24 senior admirals to become commander in chief of the Pacific fleet after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

His high command spanned the Navy's greatest days — at Coral Sea, Midway, Guadalcanal, Leyte Gulf and finally the Japanese surrender in Tokyo Bay, where he signed the agreement as U.S. representative.

The battle off Midway, June 6, 1942, in which the Japanese lost four carriers and a heavy cruiser, was the turning point of the Pacific war, in the admiral's opinion. The Japanese offensive power sank with those carriers.

He was noted as a friend of the enlisted man, often pitched

Nun Preaches Sermon From Episcopal Pulpit

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Sister Ann Patrick Ware preached Sunday what is believed to be the first sermon by a Roman Catholic nun from an Episcopal pulpit.

The professor of theology at suburban Webster College spoke to an overflow crowd which included many Roman Catholics, some of them nuns, at St. Mark's Episcopal Church.

Her sermon was part of a program at the church that stresses ecumenism, and a more active role for women in church affairs.

His decorations included 30 medals, ribbons and badges, 13 of them from foreign countries.

A native of Fredericksburg, Tex. — 20 miles from President Johnson's ranch — Nimitz said of his ocean-going profession, "It was a career by chance."

He failed in a bid to get an appointment to West Point. His naval career began, as it ended, on San Francisco Bay. He shipped out in January 1905 aboard the battleship Ohio, which became flagship of the Asiatic fleet.

Labor Aide To Face Fire From Unions

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz is due for a grilling by the nation's top labor leaders on President Johnson's efforts to hold down wage demands which the White House considers inflationary.

AFL-CIO officials, who have long denounced White House wage guidelines, reportedly will charge that the Johnson administration used a racial discrimination suit in an effort to pressure high-wage construction unions into moderating pay increases.

Wirtz, who has had no known preliminary talks here about growing labor complaints against Johnson, told a newsman he would talk about anything the AFL-CIO Executive Council wants to bring up.

Wirtz appears today before the opening session of the council, the policy-making body of the politically potent labor federation which has more than 13 million members in 129 affiliated unions.

Wirtz said his closed-door discussions with the 29-member Executive Council will be informal.

Group Gathers More Facts on 'Y'

A local volunteer group of men gathered additional facts Sunday evening in an exploratory effort toward establishing a YMCA program for the community.

Walter I. Jacoby, Ohio-West Virginia YMCA official, outlined important points that could be followed in formulating a program. His comments were directed to John Jenkins, William Shockley, Richard Snouffer, E. M. Hundley and Robert Johnson, local men who are currently working as a steering panel.

One of the key discussion points dwelled on which plan to follow here — an independent function or one that would be classified as a branch of a YMCA operation already established. An affiliation with the Columbus-Franklin County "Y" is an example of the latter.

Merits of both approaches were reviewed, as were disadvantages that could be anticipated.

THE TYPE of program to pursue was another important detail coming under study. Panel members, at least at present, lean toward a family activities operation, rather than limiting it to men only.

Such factors as facilities and a working budget evolved during the course of the discussion. This included requirement of a local building through a rental plan, and even eventual purchase of construction of a permanent structure.

The five volunteer sponsors agreed that considerable study and research will be required before a program can become reality here, with financial backing looming as one of the main obstacles to overcome. It was indicated that family type memberships in quantity would be a good initial start.

According to Jenkins, an early aim will be to organize a committee of perhaps 20 to 25 persons interested in forming and sustaining a YMCA program in the community.

The local group met earlier this month with Richard W. Wilson, branch executive at the Columbus "Y", in an initial fact-finding session. A future meeting with Robert Cooper of Columbus has been planned.

Jacoby, just as Wilson did earlier, accented the importance of community interest and individual assistance in establishing a YMCA program.

13 States In Grip of Cold Wave

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thirteen states from Maine to Montana remained in the grip of a bitter Arctic cold wave today.

For International Falls, Minn., it was the seventh consecutive day the thermometer has not risen above zero. This morning's low was -31.

The subfreezing temperatures also pushed into the Deep South while snow spread through the Ozarks. Richmond, Va., shivered in a 17-degree reading.

Bitter cold temperatures and wind-blown snow resulted in both flooding and blocked highways Sunday.

Winds up to 50 miles an hour whipped snow squalls down the Mohawk Valley, cutting visibility to zero in some places and forcing the closing of a 150-mile section of the New York Thruway between Westport, west of Syracuse, and Albany.

In Philadelphia, tow trucks removed at least 60 cars abandoned on the Schuylkill Expressway because of the heavy snow.

The subfreezing temperatures also solidified ice jams and caused flooding along several Midwest rivers and tributaries. Heaviest flooding was along the Mississippi at Davenport, Iowa.

Hazardous driving warnings were posted for most of Missouri, where snow began falling early today.

Condition of Rabbi Starts To Worsen

DETROIT (AP) — Doctors say the condition of Rabbi Morris Adler, shot by a member of his congregation during Sabbath services eight days ago, has worsened slightly and they "are not encouraged."

The hospital today reported no change in the "critical" condition of the 59-year-old rabbi.

Rabbi Adler, shot in the arm and head by Richard Wisnietzky, 23, who then fatally shot himself, has undergone brain surgery twice.

GOP Proposal Ruled Legal

Supreme Court Gives Its OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today an Ohio Legislature devised by Gov. James Rhodes and other Republican state officials and approved for this year's election by a lower federal court.

The plan was challenged in an appeal to the high court by James D. Nolan, Democratic candidate for secretary of state who said it disregards the state constitution and long established state policy.

It was upheld by the Supreme Court in a brief order which made no comment. The order stated merely that the judgment of the lower federal court was affirmed. It noted that Justice Abe Fortas took no part.

Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown had already set up 1966 election machinery under the plan, anticipating its approval. A Supreme Court decision throwing out the plan would have required altering the procedures for this year's elections.

Still pending is a state court suit filed by state Sen. Frank W. King which contends that the state apportionment board's action in devising the plan violated the state constitution.

Federal courts left that question to the state courts to determine in the future, but ordered the board's plan used for this year's elections regardless.

A key part of the plan was opposed by Democrats and favored by Republicans. This establishes single-member house districts in big counties where

Light Snow Seen For Southern Ohio

Clear and cold weather predominated over Ohio Sunday night except for some snow flurry activity in northeastern counties.

Just before daybreak some sample temperatures were Toledo 6, Columbus 9, Akron 10, Dayton 12 and Cincinnati 13.

Considerable sunshine over the entire state this morning will be replaced by mostly cloudy skies during the afternoon. Cloudiness will be accompanied by periods of light snow south of a line from Dayton to Circleville to Marietta this afternoon and tonight and snow flurries over northeastern sections.

Farmer, Wife Both Die of Heart Attacks

SOUTH WHITLEY, Ind. (AP) — Mrs. Earl Shaffer, 65, went out to the barn to call her husband to supper and found him dead of a heart attack.

The distraught woman rushed back to the house to telephone for help but died before she could make the call.

Police said Shaffer, 73, and his wife were both victims of heart ailments.

Viet Cabinet Is Reshuffled

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, striving for progress on the battlefield and on the political front, reshuffled his war Cabinet today and pledged national elections next year.

The 35-year-old premier and air force commander brushed aside all talk of differences with the United States over the possibility of peace talks with the Communists. He declared his government and the United States were marching forward "with absolutely the identical purpose" to free South Viet Nam from Communist aggression, build a peaceful society and introduce social justice.

In a shakeup growing out of his meetings with President Johnson two weeks ago and the pledge of more American aid at the Honolulu conference, Ky told a news conference:

—Political action teams are being trained to revive political parties and a constitution will be ready by November.

—Popular elections will be held next year.

—A new high court had been established to deal swiftly and efficiently with black marketeers in South Viet Nam's inflationary economy.

Ky, who still pilots his own helicopter to work each day, said he would not be a candidate for office in the elections.

"I do not like politics," he said. The Cabinet changes include the appointment of a deputy minister of foreign affairs to assist in an increasingly big government department entrusted with the job of rounding up support for the Saigon regime.

Most of the other changes will use men already in the government, although some will be added to take on a variety of new tasks. Ky said special commissions had been created to deal with the flood of refugees into government-held areas and the sometimes dissident but anti-Communist Montagnards, primitive tribesmen in the central highlands.

EDITOR'S NOTE — Danny Fernandez, of Los Lunas, N.M., and Stephen Laier, of Fort Wayne, Ind., died heroically in the war in Viet Nam. What were they like?

LOS LUNAS, N.M. (AP) — A Purple Heart for wounds received in one tour of duty in Viet Nam was not enough for Spec. 4 Daniel Fernandez of Los Lunas. He had to go back. Then a heroic gesture cost him his life.

Fernandez, 21, has been nominated for his country's highest decoration for bravery, the Medal of Honor, for giving his life to save his buddies.

Danny Fernandez died Friday

in a fierce battle with the Viet Cong about 25 miles west of Saigon.

When a grenade was tossed into the midst of Danny's unit, he threw himself on it to shield others from the blast.

"When he spotted the grenade, he lunged on top of it without hesitation. He yelled, 'move out, you people,' and then it went off," said Spec. 4 James McKeown, Willingboro, N.J. Danny's unit was from Company C, 1st Battalion, 2nd Brigade of the 24th Infantry Division.

Friends said Danny was an unselfish person who always got along well with others. He had a consuming passion for horses.

"He loved horses. He was a bronc buster," said his father, Jose I. Fernandez.

"He participated in amateur rodeos to quite an extent," said Roque Sanchez, a high school teacher. "He had no problems in making friends."

"He was an outstanding athlete in cross country, track and football. He got along with all the boys," said Los Lunas athletic director Nick Madrid.

Fernandez grew up in the pleasant little ranching and farming community of Los Lunas, a town of about 1,500 on the Rio Grande River 10 miles south of Albuquerque, and in Albuquerque. He has two brothers in school at home and a sister in college at Las Vegas.

"Daniel was always volunteering," his father said. "He was in the school patrol, 4-H Club, the March of Dimes. He helped for hours. He was an unselfish, generous person."

Lt. Joseph D'Orso, Norwalk, Conn., a member of Danny's platoon, echoed the father's words.

"He was always volunteering," D'Orso said. "He was ready to do anything."

Before being flown away in a medical evacuation helicopter, Fernandez asked Sgt. Ruben Perkins, Nashville, Tenn., "Who's going to take care of you now?"

"We had been working together since he joined the unit,"

Perkins said. "He called me 'Sergeant Rock' and I called him 'Old Dan.' He was real young, but real grown up in his attitude."

Platoon buddies said he was a friend to everyone, generous with his money when others had run out.

Fernandez said his son was wounded in Viet Nam in March 1965 after volunteering to go there. The soldier was awarded the Air Medal and Purple Heart, sent home on furlough and transferred to Hawaii.

He volunteered to return to Viet Nam in January.

"I feel humble to know that my son did such a fine thing," his father said.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — "He probably was hesitant to write because he knew it would hurt us," said the father of Stephen Laier. "He was that kind of boy."

Joseph G. Laier was talking about his 18-year-old son who lost both legs in a Viet Cong mine blast. Laier and his wife didn't learn of their son's injuries until eight days before the young infantryman died.

Husky Stephen Laier was credited with guiding a patrol to his besieged unit in the jungles of Viet Nam Feb. 4, although mortally wounded himself.

Group Gathers More Facts on 'Y'

A local volunteer group of men gathered additional facts Sunday evening in an exploratory effort toward establishing a YMCA program for the community.

Walter I. Jacoby, Ohio-West Virginia YMCA official, outlined important points that could be followed in formulating a program. His comments were directed to John Jenkins, William Shockley, Richard Snouffer, E. M. Hundley and Robert Johnson, local men who are currently working as a steering panel.

One of the key discussion points dwelled on which plan to follow here — an independent function or one that would be classified as a branch of a YMCA operation already established. An affiliation with the Columbus-Franklin County "Y" is an example of the latter.

Merits of both approaches were reviewed, as were disadvantages that could be anticipated.

THE TYPE of program to pursue was another important detail coming under study. Panel members, at least at present, lean toward a family activities operation, rather than limiting it to men only.

Such factors as facilities and a working budget evolved during the course of the discussion. This included acquisition of a local building through a rental plan, and even eventual purchase of construction of a permanent structure.

The five volunteer sponsors agreed that considerable study and research will be required before a program can become reality here, with financial backing looming as one of the main obstacles to overcome. It was indicated that family type memberships in quantity would be a good initial start.

According to Jenkins, an early aim will be to organize a committee of perhaps 20 to 25 persons interested in forming and sustaining a YMCA program in the community.

The local group met earlier this month with Richard W. Wilson, branch executive at the Columbus "Y", in an initial fact-finding session. A future meeting with Robert Cooper of Columbus has been planned.

Jacoby, just as Wilson did earlier, accented the importance of community interest and individual assistance in establishing a YMCA program.

13 States In Grip of Cold Wave

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thirteen states from Maine to Montana remained in the grip of a bitter Arctic cold wave today.

For International Falls, Minn., it was the seventh consecutive day the thermometer has not risen above zero. This morning's low was -31.

The subfreezing temperatures also pushed into the Deep South while snow spread through the Ozarks. Richmond, Va., shivered in a 17-degree reading.

Bitter cold temperatures and wind-blown snow resulted in both flooding and blocked highways Sunday.

Winds up to 50 miles an hour whipped snow squalls down the Mohawk Valley, cutting visibility to zero in some places and forcing the closing of a 150-mile section of the New York Thruway between Westport, west of Syracuse, and Albany.

In Philadelphia, tow trucks removed at least 60 cars abandoned on the Schuylkill Expressway because of the heavy snow.

The subfreezing temperatures also solidified ice jams and caused flooding along several Midwest rivers and tributaries. Heaviest flooding was along the Mississippi at Davenport, Iowa.

Hazardous - driving warnings were posted for most of Missouri, where snow began falling early today.

Condition of Rabbi Starts To Worsen

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — "He probably was hesitant to write because he knew it would hurt us," said the father of Stephen Laier. "He was that kind of boy."

Joseph G. Laier was talking about his 18-year-old son who lost both legs in a Viet Cong mine blast. Laier and his wife didn't learn of their son's injuries until eight days before the young infantryman died.

Husky Stephen Laier was credited with guiding a patrol to his besieged unit in the jungles of Viet Nam Feb. 4, although mortally wounded himself.

GOP Proposal Ruled Legal

Supreme Court Gives Its OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today an Ohio Legislature devised by Gov. James Rhodes and other Republican state officials and approved for this year's election by a lower federal court.

The plan was challenged in an appeal to the high court by James D. Nolan, Democratic candidate for secretary of state who said it disregards the state constitution and long established state policy.

It was upheld by the Supreme Court in a brief order which made no comment. The order stated merely that the judgment of the lower federal court was affirmed. It noted that Justice Abe Fortas took no part.

Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown had already set up 1966 election machinery under the plan, anticipating its approval. A Supreme Court decision throwing out the plan would have required altering the procedures for this year's elections.

Still pending is a state court suit filed by state Sen. Frank W. King which contends that the state apportionment board's action in devising the plan violated the state constitution.

Federal courts left that question to the state courts to determine in the future, but ordered the board's plan used for this year's elections regardless.

A key part of the plan was opposed by Democrats and favored by Republicans. This establishes single-member house districts in big counties where

Light Snow Seen For Southern Ohio

Clear and cold weather predominated over Ohio Sunday night except for some snow flurry activity in northeastern counties.

Just before daybreak some sample temperatures were Toledo 6, Columbus 9, Akron 10, Dayton 12 and Cincinnati 13.

Considerable sunshine over the entire state this morning will be replaced by mostly cloudy skies during the afternoon. Cloudiness will be accompanied by periods of light snow south of a line from Dayton to Circleville to Marietta this afternoon and tonight and snow flurries over northeastern sections.

Farmer, Wife Both Die of Heart Attacks

SOUTH WHITLEY, Ind. (AP) — Mrs. Earl Shaffer, 65, went out to the barn to call her husband to supper and found him dead of a heart attack.

The distraught woman rushed back to the house to telephone for help but died before she could make the call.

Police said Shaffer, 73, and his wife were both victims of heart ailments.

Viet Cabinet Is Reshuffled

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, striving for progress on the battlefield and on the political front, reshuffled his war Cabinet today and pledged national elections next year.

The 35-year-old premier and air force commander brushed aside all talk of differences with the United States over the possibility of peace talks with the Communists. He declared his government and the United States were marching forward "with absolutely the identical purpose" to free South Viet Nam from Communist aggression, build a peaceful society and introduce social justice.

In a shakeup growing out of his meetings with President Johnson two weeks ago and the pledge of more American aid at the Honolulu conference, Ky told a news conference:

—Political action teams are being trained to revive political parties and a constitution will be ready by November.

—Popular elections will be held next year.

—A new high court had been established to deal swiftly and efficiently with black marketeers in South Viet Nam's inflationary economy.

Ky, who still pilots his own helicopter to work each day, said he would not be a candidate for office in the elections. "I do not like politics," he said.

The Cabinet changes include the appointment of a deputy minister of foreign affairs to assist in an increasingly big government department entrusted with the job of rounding up support for the Saigon regime.

Most of the other changes will use men already in the government, although some will be added to take on a variety of new tasks. Ky said special commissions had been created to deal with the flood of refugees into government-held areas and the sometimes dissident but anti-Communist Montagnards, primitive tribesmen in the central highlands.

Bronc Buster, Beagle Fancier Die Heroes in Viet

EDITOR'S NOTE — Danny Fernandez, of Los Lunas, N.M., and Stephen Laier, of Fort Wayne, Ind., died heroically in the war in Viet Nam. What were they like?

LOS LUNAS, N.M. (AP) — A Purple Heart for wounds received in one tour of duty in Viet Nam was not enough for Spec. 4 Daniel Fernandez of Los Lunas. He had to go back. Then a heroic gesture cost him his life.

Fernandez, 21, has been nominated for his country's highest decoration for bravery, the Medal of Honor, for giving his life to save his buddies.

Danny Fernandez died Friday

in a fierce battle with the Viet Cong about 25 miles west of Saigon.

When a grenade was tossed into the midst of Danny's unit, he threw himself on it to shield others from the blast.

"When he spotted the grenade, he lunged on top of it without hesitation. He yelled, 'move out, you people,' and then it went off," said Spec. 4 James McKeown, Willingboro, N.J. Danny's unit was from Company C, 1st Battalion, 2nd Brigade of the 24th Infantry Division.

Friends said Danny was an unselfish person who always got along well with others. He had a consuming passion for horses.

"He loved horses. He was a bronc buster," said his father, Jose I. Fernandez.

"He participated in amateur rodeos to quite an extent," said Roque Sanchez, a high school teacher. "He had no problems in making friends."

"He was an outstanding athlete in cross country, track and football. He got along with all the boys," said Los Lunas athletic director Nick Madrid.

Fernandez grew up in the pleasant little ranching and farming community of Los Lunas, a town of about 1,500 on the Rio Grande River 10 miles south of Albuquerque, and in Albuquerque. He has two brothers in school at home and a sister in college at Las Vegas.

"Daniel was always volunteering," his father said. "He was in the school patrol, 4-H Club, the March of Dimes. He helped for hours. He was an unselfish, generous person."

Lt. Joseph D'Orso, Norwalk, Conn., a member of Danny's platoon, echoed the father's words.

"He was always volunteering," D'Orso said. "He was ready to do anything."

Before being flown away in a medical evacuation helicopter, Fernandez asked Sgt. Ruben Perkins, Nashville, Tenn., "Who's going to take care of you now?"

"We had been working together since he joined the unit," Perkins said. "He called me 'Sergeant Rock' and I called him 'Old Dan.' He was real young, but real grown up in his attitude."

Platoon buddies said he was a friend to everyone, generous with his money when others had run out.

Fernandez said his son was wounded in Viet Nam in March 1965 after volunteering to go there. The soldier was awarded the Air Medal and Purple Heart, sent home on furlough and transferred to Hawaii.

He volunteered to return to Viet Nam in January.

"I feel humble to know that my son did such a fine thing,"

COUNTY'S LARGEST TAXPAYER — E. G. Parsons (left), manager of the local office of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., today presented Pickaway County Treasurer Robert Wood with a check for $221,029.74. This figure represents the first-half installment on 1965 real estate taxes. The local utility is the largest taxpayer in this county, and in Athens, Coshocton and Adams Counties. Last year the firm paid more than $5 million in taxes. Deadline for paying real estate taxes was today. Penalties will be added to tax statements that are not paid before Mar. 1, according to Wood.

Board Tackles Heavy Agenda By Approving Three Motions

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners opened a heavy agenda today by approving three motions.

One of the motions calls for removing a fire escape from the County Home, now closed, and installing it at the Courthouse annex on W. Franklin St. The cost is not expected to exceed $400.

Undertaken as a safety measure, Commission chairman Lloyd Melvin said the county probably would have been required to install such a facility at the Annex in the near future. The former County Home fire escape will be cut to proper size and erected as soon as possible.

A second motion also concerned the County Home. The solons ordered barricades erected at the now defunct institution, with further provision that nothing be removed from the building without consent of the commission.

REPLACING windows on the first floor of the County Jail was the third motion approved. The improvement, recommended earlier by a County Grand Jury, will be handled by Ankrom Lumber Co. at an estimated cost of $196.90.

Later today the board was scheduled to consider a request for placement of a stop sign at an intersection in Perry Twp. The proposal was submitted by trustees there.

The intersection concerned at Crownover Mill and Dublin Hill-Williamsport Roads. Trustees said the sign is necessary due to heavy traffic, especially trucks, connected with construction of the Deer Creek Reservoir.

In other business, the Pickaway lawmakers said they found no objections to an application by David E. Gochenour for a C-2 carryout permit at his store on the Harrisburg - Darbyville Pike. Trustees in Darby Twp. also expressed no objection. Information to this effect will be referred to the Ohio Board of Liquor Control for final action.

The solons also planned to act later today on a request by Darby Twp. Trustees proposing the county assume jurisdiction over the Mt. Sterling - Commercial Point Road from the Palestine-Williamsport Road to Route 62.

Fire Levels Darby Twp. Sheep Barn

Fire believed caused by a short circuit in an electric cord on a heat lamp leveled a barn Sunday morning at the Dewey Downs farm on Smith Road, south of Darby.

Downs lost 19 sheep in the blaze, including 11 young lambs, seven ewes and one buck.

In addition, the barn contained five feeders, one hay rack, 2,000 bales of hay and 300 bales of straw.

The building was a 60 by 40 structure. Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff George Linder reported heat lamps were being used in the building to provide warmth for new born lambs.

THE FIRE was discovered at 7:30 a. m. by Richard McPherson who was on his way to the barn to feed the sheep.

The blaze was burning beyond control when the Mt. Sterling Volunteer Fire Department arrived. Firefighters remained until it died down to prevent flames from spreading to surrounding buildings.

The farm and buildings are owned by Roland Windmiller of Columbus.

Deputy Linder reported an estimate of damage had not yet been compiled.

Jury Favors Roger May in Death Claim

A jury in Fairfield County Common Pleas Court has returned a verdict in favor of an area farmer who was the defendant in a $50,000 wrongful death claim.

Roger May, Route 1, was the defendant in two lawsuits filed in Fairfield County as the result of a fatal accident Oct. 31, 1964. Robert H. Huffer, local attorney, represented May in the double court action.

Killed in the accident in 1964 was Loy Smith, an 18-year-old who was operating a motorcycle. May was driving a farm truck loaded with corn when the accident occurred.

Smith was traveling on Route 674, Pickaway-Fairfield County Line Road, when May drove onto the highway from a farm lane.

Suits were brought against May by Smith's parents. First of the two cases, filed by Charles and Rosa Smith, asked for medical and burial expenses which amounted to nearly $2,000.

THE SECOND suit, filed by his mother as administrator of the estate, asked for $50,000. Jurors were unanimous in returning verdicts in both cases for the defendant.

The Smiths were represented by the Columbus law firm of Sitterly and Lentz.

Stock Prices Still Sliding

NEW YORK (AP)—A 10-point jump by Kennecott failed to inspire a sliding stock market early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The list headed lower on balance, continuing last week's trend.

Kennecott was halted temporarily in trading as the stock ran up 10 to 142. Further response to the 3-for-1 stock split proposed by the No. 1 copper producer was cited for the rise, as well as strength in copper futures.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 8 at 363.1 with industrials off .9 rails off .8 and utilities off .2. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.90 at 970.32.

GOP Proposal

elections have been held county-wide.

The U. S. District Court for the Southern District of Ohio gave interim approval to the plan last Oct. 27 after ruling earlier that the Ohio Senate was malapportioned.

With election of the 1966 General Assembly due Nov. 8, the court said, further delay would present "the possibility of chaos and of a breakdown in the entire election machinery of the state."

Nolan contended, however, that the district court "embarked on a program of wholesale revisions and amendments to the state constitution which threatens to create . . . chaos and confusion. . . ."

The apportionment plan devised by Rhodes, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and State Auditor Roger Cloud, serving as an apportionment board, divides the state into 99 districts, provides for the election to the house of one member from each district and provides for 33 senate districts—each comprised of three house districts—with a senator to be elected from each.

In his appeal to the Supreme Court, Nolan said that under the Ohio Constitution "there can be absolutely no justification for the creation of single member districts in the larger counties."

"The subdistricting of the larger counties," he said, "has long been a political goal of the defendants but it is a goal not relevant to the question of equal representation."

Named as defendants by Nolan were Rhodes, Brown and Cloud.

One effect of the plan is to split Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) into 17 districts, each to elect one representative. The county's 17-member delegation had been elected county-wide and was solidly democratic.

Splitting it into districts is expected to give republicans five representatives from GOP-oriented suburbs.

Attacking the district court's ruling, Nolan said the three judges refused to hold a hearing, reached the decision without the presentation of evidence and "abdicated the judicial function in favor of state executive officers."

"The power to apportion," Nolan said in his brief, "is the power to affect the basic nature of representative government and unless the exercise of the power is restrained by specific, well defined limitations and guidelines, it will be, as history demonstrates, subject to the most extreme abuses."

In announcing its ruling the district court said: "We regard the apportionment of the general assembly of Ohio as being a legislative rather than a judicial function. The federal court should intervene only to protect rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States."

The three state officials, the court said, acted under authority of the Ohio Constitution and their plan does not violate the U. S. Constitution.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "This is wonderful," said Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe after learning today the U. S. Supreme Court had upheld a new legislative apportionment plan his office drafted.

"I never felt the Supreme Court would overrule this, because our plan was constitutional in all ways," Saxbe said. But the man who filed the first suit attacking Ohio's legislative apportionment, James Nolan of Cleveland, disagreed. He said the decision "does not draw the curtain on the reapportionment drama but merely allows the current elections now in progress to continue. . . ."

Nolan noted the Supreme Court made no comment in upholding a lower court decision and said this lack of comment "does not necessarily indicate support for the apportionment scheme as a permanent method in Ohio."

He said he still contends the new plan, drafted by Republican state officials, is unfair. But he said it now would be up to the 1967 legislature "to consider the entire matter and to provide a plan."

Sahara Desert Highway Talked

Camel Caravan To Be Replaced

ALGIERS (AP) — The camel, historic desert cruiser, may soon give way to the automobile on the ancient caravan route across the Sahara, if plans go through for a superhighway across the world's greatest wasteland.

Eight African governments hope to construct an asphalt span from the Mediterranean coast to the Niger River that would enable a motorist to make the 2,000-mile trip in a few days.

Trucks with special tires and survival equipment have been venturing across the Sahara for some time. The trip is hazardous and uneconomical for large-scale freight movement.

An asphalt highway exists from Algiers to the oilfields around Hassi Messaoud, a distance of 500 miles. Beyond that, an ill-defined track winds for 1,500 miles across the virtually uninhabited, sandblown wasteland.

Drivers have to undergo special desert training, carry compasses, snake serum and heavy equipment to dig their vehicles out of the sand. Water and gasoline are available only at outposts hundreds of miles apart.

Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Mali, Mauritania, Chad, Niger and the United Arab Republic hope to raise $127 million to build the road and to supply about $4.25 million a year to maintain it.

Construction would take at least 12 years. Preliminary surveys are being made by the United Nations Special Fund, which is expected to contribute to the over-all cost.

A modern trans-Saharan communications link was long the dream of French colonial administrators. They actually built two rail lines several hundred miles into the desert. The farther advanced, however, the more formidable the difficulties became. The project finally was abandoned.

It is estimated that 25,000 trucks and passenger vehicles would use the road every year. The cost of freight movements from Algiers to the Niger would be cut by more than half and the time for the trip reduced by 80 per cent.

Emanuel Hundley, 335 Lewis Road, has assumed his new duties in the Whitehall School District of Franklin County.

Hundley is a special education teacher in the Whitehall-Yeilding High School, and has been named an assistant principal. He will divide his time between the E. Main St. and Kae Ave. elementary schools.

The teacher received a BA degree in education from Ohio State University and did graduate work there. He did post graduate work at the University of Southern Mississippi. He graduated from California State College at Los Angeles with a Master's Degree and took his administration work from Whittier College in California.

Men Burned In Gasoline Blaze Here

Two local men were burned seriously at 4:18 p. m. yesterday when gasoline they were using to clean a floor of a garage exploded.

Robert Tigner, 23, of 157 Fairview Ave., was admitted to Berger Hospital for treatment of first and second degree burns. Harry Justice, 23, of 225 E. Union St., was treated in the hospital's emergency room and released.

The garage is located at 165 Hayward Ave. According to the report given police and firemen, the men had just taken a car from the building.

They came back in and started cleaning the area when a can containing the gasoline was accidentally knocked over. The pilot light on a stove used to heat the building ignited the fumes.

Tigner and Justice were forced to break a window and crawl through to escape. Both suffered lacerations of the hands.

City firefighters were called to douse the blaze. Damage to the building, a cement block structure owned by Gene Keaton of Columbus, was estimated at $50. The contents destroyed were valued at $10.

At 5:34 p. m. yesterday, firemen were called by George Lowery to douse a blaze in a 30 by 30 feet building on Lowery Lane. Caused by a faulty flue, the blaze caused an estimated $25 damage to the building.

Board Tackles Heavy Agenda By Approving Three Motions

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners opened a heavy agenda today by approving three motions.

One of the motions calls for removing a fire escape from the County Home, now closed, and installing it at the Courthouse annex on W. Franklin St. The cost is not expected to exceed $400.

Undertaken as a safety measure, Commission chairman Lloyd Melvin said the county probably would have been required to install such a facility at the Annex in the near future. The former County Home fire escape will be cut to proper size and erected as soon as possible.

A second motion also concerned the County Home. The solons ordered barricades erected at the now defunct institution, with further provision that nothing be removed from the building without consent of the commission.

REPLACING windows on the first floor of the County Jail was the third motion approved. The improvement, recommended earlier by a County Grand Jury, will be handled by Ankrum Lumber Co. at an estimated cost of $196.90.

Later today the board was scheduled to consider a request for placement of a stop sign at an intersection in Perry Twp. The proposal was submitted by trustees there.

The intersection concerned at Crownover Mill and Dublin Hill-Williamsport Roads. Trustees said the sign is necessary due to heavy traffic, especially trucks, connected with construction of the Deer Creek Reservoir.

In other business, the Pickaway lawmakers said they found no objections to an application by David E. Goch-enour for a C-2 carryout permit at his store on the Harrisburg - Darbyville Pike. Trustees in Darby Twp. also expressed no objection. Information to this effect will be referred to the Ohio Board of Liquor Control for final action.

Sahara Desert Highway Talked

Camel Caravan To Be Replaced

ALGIERS (AP)—The camel, historic desert cruiser, may soon give way to the automobile on the ancient caravan route across the Sahara, if plans go through for a superhighway across the world's greatest wasteland.

Eight African governments hope to construct an asphalt span from the Mediterranean coast to the Niger River that would enable a motorist to make the 2,000-mile trip in a few days.

He graduated from California State College at Los Angeles with a Master's Degree and took his administration work from Whittier College in California.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p.m. Monday.

Coin Box Pilfered

John Robinson, Route 3, reported a coin box at his automatic car wash on the Lancaster Pike had been tampered with and an estimated $50 taken.

When reporting the incident Saturday he noted the theft had occurred since Feb. 12.

The solons also planned to act later today on a request by Darby Twp. Trustees proposing the county assume jurisdiction over the Mt. Sterling - Commercial Point Road from the Palestine-Williamsport Road to Route 62.

Fire Levels Darby Twp. Sheep Barn

Fire believed caused by a short circuit in an electric cord on a heat lamp leveled a barn Sunday morning at the Dewey Downs farm on Smith Road, south of Darby.

Downs lost 19 sheep in the blaze, including 11 young lambs, seven ewes and one buck.

In addition, the barn contained five feeders, one hay rack, 2,000 bales of hay and 300 bales of straw.

The building was a 60 by 40 structure. Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff George Linder reported heat lamps were being used in the building to provide warmth for new born lambs.

THE FIRE was discovered at 7:30 a.m. by Richard McPherson who was on his way to the barn to feed the sheep.

The blaze was burning beyond control when the Mt. Sterling Volunteer Fire Department arrived. Firefighters remained until it died down to prevent flames from spreading to surrounding buildings.

The farm and buildings are owned by Roland Windmiller of Columbus.

Deputy Linder reported an estimate of damage had not yet been compiled.

Jury Favors Roger May in Death Claim

A jury in Fairfield County Common Pleas Court has returned a verdict in favor of an area farmer who was the defendant in a $50,000 wrongful death claim.

Roger May, Route 1, was the defendant in two lawsuits filed in Fairfield County as the result of a fatal accident Oct. 31, 1964. Robert H. Huffer, local attorney, represented May in the double court action.

Killed in the accident in 1964 was Loy Smith, an 18-year-old who was operating a motorcycle. May was driving a farm truck loaded with corn when the accident occurred.

Smith was traveling on Route 674, Pickaway-Fairfield County Line Road, when May drove onto the highway from a farm lane.

Suits were brought against May by Smith's parents. First of the two cases, filed by Charles and Rosa Smith, asked for medical and burial expenses which amounted to nearly $2,000.

THE SECOND suit, filed by his mother as administrator of the estate, asked for $50,000.

Jurors were unanimous in returning verdicts in both cases for the defendant.

The Smiths were represented by the Columbus law firm of Sitterly and Lentz.

Stock Prices Still Sliding

NEW YORK (AP)—A 10-point jump by Kennecott failed to inspire a sliding stock market early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The list headed lower on balance, continuing last week's trend.

Kennecott was halted temporarily in trading as the stock ran up 10 to 142. Further response to the 3-for-1 stock split proposed by the No. 1 copper producer was cited for the rise, as well as strength in copper futures.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 8 at 363.1 with industrials off 9 rails off 8 and utilities off 2. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.90 at 970.32.

GOP Proposal

elections have been held county-wide.

The U. S. District Court for the Southern District of Ohio gave interim approval to the plan last Oct. 27 after ruling earlier that the Ohio Senate was malapportioned.

With election of the 1966 General Assembly due Nov. 8, the court said, further delay would present "the possibility of chaos and of a breakdown in the entire election machinery of the state."

Nolan contended, however, that the district court "embarked on a program of wholesale revisions and amendments to the state constitution which threatens to create . . . chaos and confusion. . . ."

The apportionment plan devised by Rhodes, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and State Auditor Roger Cloud, serving as an apportionment board, divides the state into 99 districts, provides for the election to the house of one member from each district and provides for 33 senate districts—each comprised of three house districts—with a senator to be elected from each.

In his appeal to the Supreme Court, Nolan said that under the Ohio Constitution "there can be absolutely no justification for the creation of single member districts in the larger counties."

"The subdistricting of the larger counties," he said, "has long been a political goal of the defendants but it is a goal not relevant to the question of equal representation."

Named as defendants by Nolan were Rhodes, Brown and Cloud.

One effect of the plan is to split Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) into 17 districts, each to elect one representative. The county's 17-member delegation had been elected county-wide and was solidly democratic.

Splitting it into districts is expected to give republicans five representatives from GOP-oriented suburbs.

Attacking the district court's ruling, Nolan said the three judges refused to hold a hearing, reached the decision without the presentation of evidence and "abdicated the judicial function in favor of state executive officers."

"The power to apportion," Nolan said in his brief, "is the power to affect the basic nature of representative government and unless the exercise of the power is restrained by specific, well defined limitations and guidelines, it will be, as history demonstrates, subject to the most extreme abuses."

In announcing its ruling the district court said: "We regard the apportionment of the general assembly of Ohio as being a legislative rather than a judicial function. The federal court should intervene only to protect rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States."

The three state officials, the court said, acted under authority of the Ohio Constitution and their plan does not violate the U. S. Constitution.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"This is wonderful," said Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe after learning today the U. S. Supreme Court had upheld a new legislative apportionment plan his office drafted.

"I never felt the Supreme Court would overrule this, because our plan was constitutional in all ways," Saxbe said. But the man who filed the first suit attacking Ohio's legislative apportionment, James Nolan of Cleveland, disagreed. He said the decision "does not draw the curtain on the reapportionment drama but merely allows the current elections now in progress to continue. . . ."

Nolan noted the Supreme Court made no comment in upholding a lower court decision and said this lack of comment "does not necessarily indicate support for the apportionment scheme as a permanent method in Ohio."

He said he still contends the new plan, drafted by Republican state officials, is unfair. But he said it now would be up to the 1967 legislature "to consider the entire matter and to provide a plan."

Youth Fined $100 For Contributing

Richard Brink, 18, of 121 York St., was fined $10 and costs and handed a 60-day suspended jail sentence today by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb.

Brink entered a plea of guilty to contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Circleville Police filed the charge.

Ohio Seeks Federal Funds To Help Its Lawbreakers

The Circleville Herald, Mon. Feb. 21, 1966 3
Circleville, Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio to improve rehabilitation of funds to start two new programs is seeking $170,000 in federal lawbreakers, in prison and out.

Ohio has applied for two grants under a $7 million fund allocated to the Justice Department to stimulate rehabilitation law enforcement.

An $86,000 fund would help set up a training program for officers of state correctional institutions. An $84,000 grant would help finance probation programs in 10 southeastern counties.

Both programs would go into operation July 1, assuming federal funds are granted, and would last two years. State officials hope both programs would be continued after the federal grants end.

How Weather Looks Today

CENTRAL OHIO — Partly cloudy and not quite so cold tonight. Low 10 - 15. Tuesday mostly fair and continued cold. High in the lower 20s.

NORTHWEST OHIO — Generally fair and continued cold tonight and Tuesday. Low to night 8-13.

SOUTHEAST OHIO — Cloudy and not quite so cold tonight with periods of light snow near the Ohio River. Mostly fair and continued cold Tuesday. Highs Tuesday in the lower 20s. Low tonight 10-15.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Fair and continued cold tonight and Tuesday. Low tonight 10-15.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Temperatures Tuesday through Saturday will average 7-11 degrees below normal. Representative daily normal highs and lows are Cincinnati 45-23, Columbus 41-24, Cleveland 37-20.

Very cold early in week, slowly moderating temperatures latter part. Precipitation expected to be light, averaging less than .2 inch melted occurring as snow flurries north near mid-week and some light snow flurries over state toward end of week.

The training program "would improve our correctional services," said Corrections Chief Maury Koblentz, by providing college-level training for officers and supervisors at various institutions.

The probation program would provide workers for rehabilitation and supervision of persons released on probation.

The 10 counties—Perry, Morgan, Noble, Washington, Athens, Hocking, Vinton, Meigs, Jackson and Gallia—now have no supervisory machinery for persons released by local courts on probation, said George Denton, chief of the state's Adult Parole Authority.

The training program would include instruction in psychology, social services and similar areas — "anything that would be involved in the daily handling of inmate problems," Koblentz said.

The corrections department has training programs for employees in its major prisons now, but Koblentz said the new program would be more concentrated. Plans are for Ohio State University to offer the courses in the evenings for captains, lieutenants and other correctional officers at six institutions.

Plans for the probation program call for hiring three full-time workers to supervise probationers in the ten counties. Denton said larger counties generally have probation officers, but smaller counties cannot afford—and usually do not need—a full-time probation officer.

Westinghouse Labor Fuss Said Settled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Disciplinary furloughs for 200 of the 4,500 employees of Westinghouse Electric Corp.'s appliance plant here were scheduled to end today. Management and Local 746, International Union of Electrical Workers, announced settlement of the affected members' status Saturday night. There was no elaboration on the dispute that led to the action, stemming from sitdowns on assembly lines in a disagreement over incentive bonuses.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Disciplinary furloughs for 200 of the 4,500 employees of Westinghouse Electric Corp.'s appliance plant here were scheduled to end today. Management and Local 746, International Union of Electrical Workers, announced settlement of the affected members' status Saturday night. There was no elaboration on the dispute that led to the action, stemming from sitdowns on assembly lines in a disagreement over incentive bonuses.

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Motorcycling is enjoying a boom today among grownups as well as the leather jacket crowd. Some 700,000 Americans own motor bikes. But motorcycling is still a dangerous sport. The death rate is 13 per year for each 10,000 cycles, compared to six deaths for each 10,000 motor cars.

Among the things that money couldn't do was grow hair on a bald head. That's why John D. Rockefeller Sr., one of the richest men who ever lived, wore a wig for nearly half a century.

The world population is increasing by 65 million yearly — about one-third the number of people in the United States.

Only the surface of a desert is burning hot. Dig down a foot or so, and the temperature drops to a comfortable 73 degrees.

One reason you shouldn't use tranquilizers except on medical advice is that, taken in too large a dosage or over too long a time, they may cause heart damage. Researchers have found this to be true in both animals and people.

Quotable notables: "I must lose myself in action, lest I wither in despair" — Alfred Tennyson.

Pope Pius V banned bullfighting in Spain in 1567 because of so many fatalities among Spanish lords who lanced the bulls from horseback. What really led the aristocrats to give up the sports, however, was the fact that commoners began to fight the bulls on foot, using only a cape and a sword.

Household tip: A St. Louis, Mo., doctor says that if wives cook food in an iron pot it may help prevent anemia in the family. Gets more iron in everybody's system.

History lesson: At least five U.S. presidents wore beards while in office. They were Abraham Lincoln, U.S. Grant, James Garfield, Rutherford B. Hayes and Benjamin Harrison.

River of life: The chances are one in 80 that you will receive a blood transfusion this year. Between five and six million pints are needed annually by U.S. hospitals.

Worth remembering: "There is nothing wrong with the younger generation that the older generation didn't outgrow."

NEW YORK (AP) — A confused stock market has been swinging impulsively under the impact of contradictory news items.

Most reports still point to boom days ahead. But a handful of gloomy interpretations of some recent statistics has many a stock trader wondering.

Some pundits tell him that the signs all indicate inflationary growth of the economy may already be under way — meaning stocks could be a good buy.

Others say the signs of a slowdown are beginning to appear, if not quite as obvious as the statistics that show the economy has risen even higher than first thought — meaning caution in stock buying may be a good bet.

Personal income is an example. The government reports that the total has just risen again, as usual and as expected. But it also reports that the rise was smaller than in previous months, trimming the impact of this strong ally of prosperity.

The slowdown also was expected, because of the big increase in withholding from pay checks for Social Security.

Yet despite the slowdown in the pace of personal income gains, retail trade is still flourishing. Even the onslaught of bad February weather hasn't trimmed the total sales by much.

From this the puzzled stock trader can deduce either that consumers are bent on spending more, even if that means saving less, or that they haven't yet reacted to the smaller pay checks.

Should hormone treatments be given to a woman after the change of life?

When the change of life, or menopause, sets in many distressing symptoms accompany it. These symptoms are almost identical if the menopause is a natural one or occurs following surgery of the womb and ovaries.

It is generally accepted that there are distinct advantages in using female sex hormones to reduce the symptoms of change of life.

There is also reason to believe that there are some other advantages, too. General medical conditions seem to have been avoided where female hormones were used during this period.

The decision to use a hormone depends on the judgment of the doctor, who alone can evaluate the particular needs of each of his patients.

There are some associated medical conditions that do not permit the use of hormones. For this reason, there can be no absolute rule for the use of hormones in all patients.

TOM PATTERSON tells about two earnest lads engaged in discussing the facts of life. One had just been getting an earful about the birds and bees from his father, so he took the floor. "It's like this," he began. "Your folks send out a radio appeal for a boy or a girl. Angels put the baby in a rocket ship and aim it at the nearest hospital. Five minutes after the blast-off, it's in your mother's arms."

IT'S LIKE THIS...

"Is that really what your father told you?" wondered the boy's little friend.

"Not exactly," admitted the boy, "but if I told it his way, you'd never believe it!"

"You consider yourself a kind father," pouted a Williams sophomore. "Four times I wrote you for money to attend a rock 'n' roll festival in California, and four times you ignored me. What sort of kindness do you call that?" The father—a Williams graduate himself—answered happily, "Unremitting kindness."

OBSERVATIONS by Colonel Duffy:

How to get rich quick: sense the moment when some society lady's whim will turn a pile of junk into eagerly-bid-for antiques.

To many football fans the highlights of the game are the pints after touchdowns.

Confidence is the feeling that the other fellow hasn't nerve enough to strike back.

A quiet man, hardly known at all to the general public, left his farmhouse near Westminster, Maryland, before breakfast the other day to feed his chickens. This had been his custom — "Feed the stock before feeding yourself." He was found dead in the soft snow near the chicken house, the victim of a heart attack.

The man was Paul Morelock. To readers of Whittaker Chambers' books, "Witness" and "Cold Friday," the name may ring a faint, a very faint, bell. Whittaker Chambers always loved Morelock and his wife Ruth and her two sisters because they had stood by him in the earliest days of the celebrated Hiss Case. This was at a time when people were believing Hiss's claims of innocence of spy charges and spreading the word abroad that Chambers, his reluctant accuser, was a drunkard. Morelock had come to Chambers at the darkest hour and said: "When a man is down, that's when he needs friends to stand by him. Yes, sir, when a man is down, that's when he needs friends. . . . So me and the women came over."

This Paul Morelock who loved his neighbor as himself was one of the last truly individualistic farmers in America. A breeder of Angus cattle, and an incidental grower of wheat, he led seven of his neighbors some fifteen years ago in a romantic open rebellion against the crop control laws. Believing that a man's home was his castle, and that raising crops for their own (and their animals') consumption was no business of the government, they had put up signs at the entrances to their farms reading, "Government agents keep out!" What followed was swift legal action by the government, which wanted no precedents of independence established. The history of the suppression of the Morelock rebellion can be found in the records of the Baltimore Federal Court in the action called "The People v. Morelock."

The irony of it was that Chambers, who was emotionally on Morelock's side, had advised his friend not to fight the Administration. Chambers had tried to tell the Morelock rebels that crop controls were the impersonal result of 40-horsepower er tractors, self-propelled combines, mechanical compickers, and Aladdin-lamp modern fertilizers, all of which had resulted in an "incontinent productivity." The majority of farmers, said Chambers, had voted for crop curbs "for the same reason that a fat man takes to diet — ultimately, to prolong his life."

Yet Whittaker Chambers always wondered whether he had been right in calling the Morelock position "preposterous." Every spring, when the freshets came, Chambers would tell himself that the memory of Morelock's action must be celebrated, if only to remind men that the will to be free of coercion is a good thing in itself. Now that Chambers and Morelock are both dead, who will recall the Morelock rebellion this year when the snows are melting and the rivulets are running in the Potomac watershed?

Well, it so happened that the news of Morelock's death reached me, a friend of Chambers, at approximately the same time that I learned the U. S. Senate had, by its refusal to vote cloture, finally beaten back the attempt to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. Romantically, this column had said from the first that the defenders of Section 14(b) would win. (As every literate American must know by now, 14(b) permits the separate states to decide for themselves whether union membership shall be subject to compulsion.) Now, if the Chambers logic had been applied to the romantic attempt to stop the progress of compulsory unionism, the men who successfully fought for the retention of 14(b) would have given up long ago. For logic says that the impersonal result of automation in industry must result in "incontinent productivity," and that no worker should be exempt from the duty of supporting the union that is necessary to force equitable sharing of plenty.

But the logic is wrong, as Chambers instinctively felt. There are always voluntary ways of achieving a desired end. Unions will continue to prosper without compulsion. Crops can be controlled without sending agents into a man's fields. The human animal is ingenious; he can always find a way of solving a problem

An International Laughter Competition is scheduled to be held in connection with the Fal-las Fiesta of Valencia, Spain, March 13-19. It's the happiest idea anyone has had in a long time.

We're all for it — a week-long ho-ho-holiday devoted to world-wide hee-hee-hilarity!

The world's humorists are invited to send in entries in any language. This should result in a truly global guffaw.

Prizes are being offered for the funniest fiction, cartoons, poetry, biography, photography, sculpture, sketches for stage, movies, radio and television. An affair of such magnitude is, obviously, no joke!

A vowed purpose of the Valencia tee-hee tournament is to "teach laughter to those who do not know how to laugh." But will the sourpuss Reds listen?

Since Uncle Sam's boys invented the comic strip, he should wind up the Laugh Olympics smiles ahead of everybody else.

The TV test should be especially easy for us — if we send over a team made up of, say, Jackie Gleason, Bob Hope, Red Skelton, Jerry Lewis, Jim Nabors, Jack Benny, et al. And of course, a whole passel of gag writers!

The man at this next desk came up with this question today: — If a good-looking girl should steal a kiss from you, would you call that pretty larceny?

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — A confused stock market has been swinging impulsively under the impact of contradictory news items.

Most reports still point to boom days ahead. But a handful of gloomy interpretations of some recent statistics has many a stock trader wondering.

Some pundits tell him that the signs all indicate inflationary growth of the economy may already be under way — meaning stocks could be a good buy.

Others say the signs of a slowdown are beginning to appear, if not quite as obvious as the statistics that show the economy has risen even higher than first thought — meaning caution in stock buying may be a good bet.

Personal income is an example. The government reports that the total has just risen again, as usual and as expected. But it also reports that the rise was smaller than in previous months, trimming the impact of this strong ally of prosperity. The slowdown also was expected, because of the big increase in withholding from pay checks for Social Security.

Yet despite the slowdown in the pace of personal income gains, retail trade is still flourishing. Even the onslaught of bad February weather hasn't trimmed the total sales by much.

From this the puzzled stock trader can deduce either that consumers are bent on spending more, even if that means saving less, or that they haven't yet reacted to the smaller pay checks.

Confusion is added by the predictions that wage increases this year will be substantial and that the government's guidelines for holding them down will be challenged by powerful unions. With employment high, and rising, the total of personal incomes could spurt again with the higher wage scales.

On that issue, stock traders can guess either way.

Housing starts also have turned down sharply. This could mean that the home building industry is in for slim pickings and that would-be home buyers are turning cautious. Or it could mean nothing more than that the weather has been foul in many places and that spring could bring the usual seasonal pickup in construction.

Orders for durable goods are still rising and the backlog on manufacturers' books is $9 billion higher than a year ago. This could mean that both consumers and businessmen are still expanding their spending.

But inventories also are rising sharply. And some stock traders have interpreted this to mean that businessmen fear inflation is under way and are stocking up to beat price rises. This could make corporate securities look good. But some pundits are pointing out that inventories historically have risen sharply just as the business cycle was reaching its peak and that the big stocks on hand out to future orders to add impetus to the ensuing downturn.

This time the situation has a new confusing element. The economy has been on the upswing so long that many believe that government and business have found ways to lick the old cycle and to prevent any downturn of importance. Some old hands in the stock market are highly skeptical.

So, while all hands argue, the market is liable to quick swings up and down with each important corporate announcement, or even with each unsubstantiated rumor. And, as always, each individual stock has its own set of factors making it look momentarily good or bad.

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Msgr. John Dudine, pastor of the Church of St. Elizabeth, spent his early years establishing missions in a Kentucky county which took its politics very seriously.

One year, he recalls, both Democratic and Republican partisans paid the same man $2 to vote their ticket. Later, both parties discovered what had happened and sought out the man for an explanation.

"How did you vote?", they asked.

"The way I always do," the man replied. "I voted according to my conscience."

Does excessive thirst mean that there is a serious underlying illness?

The feeling of thirst is probably one of the most remarkable mechanisms in the body.

In the brain there is a tiny spot called the thirst center. A signal sent from this area radiates to all parts of the body, screaming the urgent need for fluid.

The need for fluid replacement may in some instances be complicated. For this reason, excessive thirst is carefully studied.

Liver disease, kidney disorders, climate, humidity, allergies, diet, emotional disturbances, exercise, diabetes insipidus (unlike the usual diabetes) hormone imbalance and severe blood loss are only a few of the many causes for persistent, severe, ungratified thirst.

Thirst cries for recognition. In most instances thirst is temporary, readily alleviated and of no major importance.

Is it hard to become accustomed to a hearing aid?

It takes time and careful instruction to learn how to use a new hearing aid.

Sometimes, the hard of hearing person is at first disappointed and frustrated by the hearing aid. This is soon replaced by enthusiasm when the hearing advantages of the appliance becomes obvious.

People who have not heard certain sounds for many years become confused until they once again recognize them.

With careful training, the lonely, confined world of the deaf can be widened into new and joyful horizons with a hearing aid.

Elderly patients confined to bed for long periods should be frequently turned from side to side to avoid lung complications.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Moss, Route 1, Kingston, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Pfc. Michael G. McGinnis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McGinnis, 144 Watt St.

The bride-elect is a 1962 graduate of Logan Elm High School and Columbus Business University. She is now employed at The Second National Bank.

Mr. McGinnis, a 1962 graduate of Circleville High School, is serving with the 630th Military Police Company of the U. S. Army in Viet Nam.

Sow Drops Litters 10 Days Apart

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Farmers in this area of southwestern Ohio were bewildered when a two-year-old sow had litters of 11 and 8 pigs at a 10-day interval.

The 400-pound Hampshire owned by Harley Kenneth Soales gave birth to 11 pigs Feb. 1 but all were lost due to malnutrition and an infection, veterinarian K. K. Burris said.

Soales moved the sow to a box in a fenced barnyard several hundred yards away. There, on Feb. 10, she had a second litter of eight.

The mother pig rolled on one of the young and killed it, but seven survived and were described as "healthy and rambunctious."

Soales said he could "hardly believe my eyes" when he discovered the second litter. He called Burris to ask about the "phenomenon."

The veterinarian said the unusual births probably resulted from "superfertility" and that the animal apparently did not have enough milk for the first litter and the one that was to follow.

It has happened before in cattle, horses, and humans, Burris said, but added it is rare enough to rightfully be called "a phenomenon."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren A Mother's Dilemma!

DEAR ABBY: Our 17-year-old son is good-looking, well-behaved and popular. He's a good student, good athlete and a good dancer, but he NEVER asks a girl for a date. He's not afraid of girls. He'll go around with a bunch of boys and they will "meet up" with girls, but when it comes to calling a girl and making a date, he won't do it. Girls ask him to girl-ask-boy dances, and he goes and has a great time. He can use our car, his Dad will give him money, and many mothers of girls have hinted to me that their daughters would like to date our son. When a big affair comes up (like a prom), he waits around until the last minute and then decides it's too late to call anybody. What's wrong with him? I could wring his beautiful neck!

DEAR MOTHER: Believe it or not, even good-looking, bright and popular boys can feel inadequate when it comes to girls. They don't ask because they are afraid they might be turned down. (I know, I get letters from boys, too.) Keep "reminding" your son to get a date for those special events. If he's insecure, it will provide the extra push he needs. If he is just immature, he won't call until he's good and ready.

DEAR ABBY: My child plays with a child her age who lives in our apartment building with her father and mother. We rarely see the mother as she is a stewardess with an airline. I know that this airline will not allow their stewardesses to continue to fly after they marry. Yet this young woman calls herself "MRS." How can this be? How do I go about finding out if this woman is just living with this man or if they are really married?

DEAR NOSEY: You answered your own question with your own signature: You are too "nosey" for your own good.

DEAR ABBY: Last summer a friend and I took a motor trip and agreed to share expenses. We were stopped for speeding on the outskirts of a small town. (She was driving.) The fine was $10. After the trip our friendship cooled. I later found out that my friend thought I should have paid half the fine since we had agreed to share expenses. Do you think a speeding ticket is a legitimate expense?

DEAR NOT: No. It's an illegitimate expense. But your friend violated the law herself, and should have expected no help from you in paying the fine.

DEAR ABBY: My great-grandson is with the Peace Corps at an oasis in the Sahara Desert. Mail arrives by CAM-EL three times a year. If he is to get his Christmas presents in December, they must reach Algiers before the caravan sets out in AUGUST!

So please tell the merchants that if they want to start promoting Christmas around the Fourth of July, it's all right with me.

Critics Reject Kennedy's Cong Coalition Idea

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball described the Kennedy proposal as "not a thoroughly new idea." He added that it "doesn't seem to us to be an acceptable solution."

Speaking on ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers," Ball said the North Vietnamese government wants the United States "to recognize the (National Liberation) Front as the sole government of the South Vietnamese. They won't even think of negotiating unless we accept his premise."

"Our own feeling," he added, "is if we accede to the idea of a coalition government, we would have to exclude all the representatives of the South Vietnamese government. That's what the North Vietnamese want."

"We are not going to deliver the people of South Viet Nam into the hands of the North Vietnamese," Ball concluded.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation" that "it is not my opinion that it's up to the United States to offer the Viet Cong a share in the Saigon government."

"Unless our policy has changed," Aiken said, "I would say that Sen. Kennedy's proposal is considerably out of order and that it would be up to South Viet Nam to make the proposal to share the responsibility of the government."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which on Friday concluded televised public hearings into the administration's Viet Nam policies, declined to comment on the Kennedy suggestion.

But committee member Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said Kennedy is "pointing in the right direction in which we will have to go."

Morse, a leading critic of the administration's Viet Nam policies, told a news conference in Harrisburg, Pa., the proposed $4.8-billion Viet Nam military authorization bill contains a "sleeper" that could escalate the war.

He said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara testified during the recent Foreign Relations Committee hearings that the authorization bill would provide for increasing troop deployments to Viet Nam and raising the rate of air activity there, if the President decides to do so.

Morse said that testimony, in effect, indicates that the military authorization bill empowers the escalation of war if the President asks for it.

"Any senator who votes for the bill votes for an escalation of the war," Morse said. The Senate resumes its debate on the money bill today.

In other top developments:

— Newsweek magazine reported that President Johnson has issued secret orders forbidding U.S. bombers to fly over the northern half of North Viet Nam. The new restraint "represents a severe tightening of restrictions on U.S. pilots compared with those which were in effect before the bombing pause began last Christmas," the magazine said in its current Feb. 28 issue. There was no immediate comment from the White House.

— Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., urged the elimination of target restrictions in North Viet Nam which he said were making the bombings largely ineffective. U.S. pilots, Symington said, should be permitted to bomb power plants, oil stores, docks and the like.

— Red China accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of threatening the Vietnamese and Chinese people with "a big war" during his testimony Friday before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The New China News Agency said the Chinese would fight if the war is extended to the China mainland, but stopped short of saying Chinese troops would be sent to fight in the Vietnamese war.

— Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., called today for a showdown in Congress to determine if it supports the President's conduct of the Viet Nam war. Jackson said the Senate ought to accept the suggestion made

Promising Actress Returns After Spectacular Walkout

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — She has a vivid memory of the date: March 19, 1959. "I believe it was about 10 o'clock in the morning," she adds.

That was the time at which Diane Varsi walked out on one of the most promising acting careers in recent Hollywood history.

She has returned briefly to the town for which she has no fondness; she appeared last week in a two-part "Dr. Kildare" drama at MGM. As soon as she finished, she hurried back to her home in Brooklyn.

The Diane Varsi saga has long puzzled the movie town. In two short years she starred in four films, won an Academy nomination and critical acclaim, then vanished from Hollywood.

She had dropped out of high school in San Mateo, Calif. After working as a model and restaurant hostess, she hitchhiked to Hollywood in search of an acting career.

Producer Jerry Wald recognized in her the evanescent quality he was seeking for the role of Allison McKenzie in "Peyton Place." Under Mark Robson's sensitive direction, she created a wondrous portrait of Allison and received Academy recognition.

While appearing as Gary Cooper's daughter in "10 North Frederick," she suffered a nervous collapse. Then she announced she was leaving her contract with 20th Century-Fox to live in Bennington, Vt.

Why did she leave?

"I can't tell you," she says

Nonwhite Women Now Increasing In Clerical Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — The percentage of nonwhite women in private household work is about half what it was 26 years ago, an assistant labor secretary reports.

Esther Peterson, assistant secretary of labor and special assistant to the President for consumer affairs, says also that since 1940 the percentage of nonwhite women in clerical work has risen from 1 per cent to 11 per cent.

Mrs. Peterson, in a YWCA speech, says that since 1940 the proportion of nonwhite women has doubled in the professional fields. These include nursing, accounting, law, library science and dietetics.

She predicted "an acceleration of improvements in the status of the Negro in America now that the Civil Rights Act of 1964 has paved the way."

Mrs. Peterson noted that while the average earnings of nonwhite women are 69 per cent as much as white women, the gap is closing.

Critics Reject Kennedy's Cong Coalition Idea

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball described the Kennedy proposal as "not a thoroughly new idea." He added that it "doesn't seem to us to be an acceptable solution."

Speaking on ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers," Ball said the North Vietnamese government wants the United States "to recognize the (National Liberation) Front as the sole government of the South Vietnamese. They won't even think of negotiating unless we accept his premise."

"Our own feeling," he added, "is if we accede to the idea of a coalition government, we would have to exclude all the representatives of the South Vietnamese government. That's what the North Vietnamese want."

"We are not going to deliver the people of South Viet Nam into the hands of the North Vietnamese," Ball concluded.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation" that "it is not my opinion that it's up to the United States to offer the Viet Cong a share in the Saigon government."

"Unless our policy has changed," Aiken said, "I would say that Sen. Kennedy's proposal is considerably out of order and that it would be up to South Viet Nam to make the proposal to share the responsibility of the government."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which on Friday concluded televised public hearings into the administration's Viet Nam policies, declined to comment on the Kennedy suggestion.

But committee member Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said Kennedy is "pointing in the right direction in which we will have to go."

Morse, a leading critic of the administration's Viet Nam policies, told a news conference in Harrisburg, Pa., the proposed $4.8-billion Viet Nam military authorization bill contains a "sleeper" that could escalate the war.

He said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara testified during the recent Foreign Relations Committee hearings that the authorization bill would provide for increasing troop deployments to Viet Nam and raising the rate of air activity there, if the President decides to do so.

Morse said that testimony, in effect, indicates that the military authorization bill empowers the escalation of war if the President asks for it.

"Any senator who votes for the bill votes for an escalation of the war," Morse said. The Senate resumes its debate on the money bill today.

Price Boosts Are Now Taking U.S. Spotlight

NEW YORK (AP) — Price increases are taking the nation's economic spotlight. Consumers are having to dig deeper in their pockets to buy food and many other items.

The boosts are mostly small and selective and not likely to arouse the government to such drastic action as did increases in the prices of aluminum and copper, which were rescinded under administration pressure.

However, they are the source of discussion about the possibility of price controls.

The Labor Department reported that wholesale prices rose 0.5 per cent in January to another all-time high. Prices in primary markets went up to 104.6 per cent of their average level in the 1957-59 base period. They were 3.6 per cent higher than a year ago.

The biggest increases were recorded by farm products and processed foods, but prices of industrial commodities also advanced.

The Labor Department's wholesale price index was reported under careful scrutiny by President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers to determine whether new measures are needed to counter inflationary pressures.

Analysts figured that prices of livestock and meat will rise slightly during the next few months before showing any significant decline.

Hog prices have risen as high as $30.25 a hundred pounds, up 61 per cent from a year ago. Choice steers brought $28.50 a hundred pounds, up 11 per cent in a year. Woolled lambs reached $30 a hundred pounds, a 14-year high and 20 per cent above a year ago.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler commented that price increases recently were "still quite mild" compared with the 1950s or those lately in nearly all other countries.

Even a mild rise is unwelcome, he said, and cautioned that "complacency toward mild increases in costs and prices is an open invitation to more persistent or larger increases."

Fowler added that the government's efforts to find the best mix of monetary credit and fiscal measures won't be adequate "if some groups who enjoy and exercise substantial market power choose to push up or maintain prices or wages at unwarranted levels."

Additional evidence that the business boom is rolling along at full speed accumulated. Gains in personal income and industrial production were reported.

Income rose in January to an annual rate of $351.5 billion, up

Views on Television — Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Daughters of Orange," NBC's news special Sunday night, was an enterprising example of converting film library material, mostly routine, into a gossipy, romantic television feature.

Aline Saarinen, NBC's house expert on art, architecture and royalty, narrated the recent history of Holland's royal house from assorted wintry positions in front of Dutch palaces, NATO headquarters and public parks which gave a degree of immediacy to her account. She told us of the great old queen, Wilhelmina, during the terrible days of World War II, and of the rigid upbringing of her daughter, Juliana, who ascended the throne in 1948.

There was the retelling of the about $750 million from December. Wages and salaries increased to an annual rate of $373 billion, about $2 billion more than the December rate.

The industrial production index for January climbed to 149.9 per cent of the 1957-59 average from 148.5 per cent in December.

The Commerce Department reported that businesses sharply increased their inventory accumulation late last year. Inventory accumulation jumped to an annual rate of $10.1 billion in the final quarter of 1965 from a $7.6-billion rate in the third quarter.

The Prudential Insurance Co. of America said that stepped-up military activity in Viet Nam, coupled with growing inflation, had caused an upward revision in its economic forecast for 1966.

Its chief economist, Dr. William C. Freund, now sees the gross national product — total of all goods and services — this year at $726 billion, up from the $714 billion prediction issued last November.

family and government crisis created by the queen's association with a woman mystic brought into the family circle in an effort to improve the sight of Juliana's youngest child.

Then we were updated on two royal romances in the best "Prisoner of Zenda" tradition. All this was illustrated by the most pedestrian newsreel film for the most part. Some of the more interesting was 40 and 50 years old.

Biggest disappointment of the whole weekend, however, was CBS' "An Evening With Carol Channing." If the show had been up to Miss Channing's wardrobe, however, it would have been great. It was high-style and enormous.

David McCallum seemed out of place but worked with the star through a dull, polylingual sketch. Miss Channing started one number as the face of Mona Lisa and wound up doing the frug in a leopard. George Burns made jokes about his singing and cigar-smoking. But Miss Channing's clothes were really great.

Man Gives Wife Party, Then Is Slain

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Raymond Pounds helped his wife, Carol, celebrate her 26th birthday at a family party then reported to his part-time job as a clerk. A few hours later he was slain during a robbery.

Police said Pounds, 28, was shot in the back of the head Saturday night with a sawed-off shotgun carried by one of two robbers who escaped with an undetermined amount of cash in a food mart holdup.

Two men were arrested soon after the slaying and held without charge for questioning. A third man was being sought today. Police said the holdup pair was believed to have had an accomplice who waited in a car.

The men in custody were identified by police inspector Maurice Mumford as Thomas Walton Hill, 25, and Joseph Jones, 26, both of Elyria. Mumford said charges probably would be filed today.

Police said the holdup men demanded money from Pounds and a woman check-out clerk who officers declined to identify. The woman handed over the money from her cash register, but Pounds was shot as he turned and started to take the money from his register. He fell to the floor clutching a handful of bills.

A NEW TWIST—Rock 'n' roll singer Chubby Checker—real name Ernest Evans—is shown in the police station in Chicago, under arrest on charge of contributing to delinquency of a minor. The mother of a 17-year-old girl signed the complaint. He's free on $500 bond and is to appear Feb. 28.

Sculptor Sees Similarity Between Lincoln, Johnson

NEW YORK (AP) — "I was struck with the extraordinary political and facial similarities of President Johnson and Abraham Lincoln," says Leo Cherne, who has just completed a bronze head of Johnson.

The sculptured head, somewhat larger than life — 15 inches on a 7-inch black Belgian marble base—will be presented to Johnson in New York Wednesday night.

The President will be given the sculpture as the recipient of the Freedom Award from Freedom House.

Cherne, 53, a political economist, is director of the Research Institute of America, chairman of the International Rescue Committee, and Executive Committee chairman of Freedom House.

But he still finds time to sculpt and quite well indeed. His works are in the White House and Smithsonian Institution.

He estimates he spent seven months on the Johnson project. He took less than an hour each at three visits to the White House and said he felt guilty about it.

"I was keenly aware that the President is an extremely busy man," Cherne said in an interview. "He is heavily burdened, and the weight of the office he carries is real and evident."

"With anyone else I would not hesitate to take up his time, but with President Johnson I definitely felt guilty," Cherne explained.

At one point, Cherne recalled,

the President said: "How long will this take? There is so much I must do."

Cherne, who has sculpted heads of Russian author Boris Pasternak, Albert Schweitzer and Lincoln, said the Johnson assignment had come about after the President had accepted the Lincoln work at the White House.

In his presentation to Johnson, Cherne said, he will tell the awards dinner:

"I hope I have captured something of the weathered flesh and eyes narrowed in their protected encounter with the elements bright and bitter. Perhaps, you will find as I did in the deeply etched grooves of the face, the furrows in the brow some of the lifetime's imprint of care and concern, of hope and frustration, of disappointment contained, high purpose strengthened."

Cherne said Johnson's left profile is "strikingly similar to the man he (Johnson) admired most — Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Of the similarities to Lincoln, Cherne said: "The Johnson I tried to sculpt is the Johnson I see in the frame of Lincoln. Like Lincoln, I believe Johnson is doomed to less than adequate understanding while in the White House."

Price Boosts Are Now Taking U.S. Spotlight

NEW YORK (AP) — Price increases are taking the nation's economic spotlight. Consumers are having to dig deeper in their pockets to buy food and many other items.

The boosts are mostly small and selective and not likely to arouse the government to such drastic action as did increases in the prices of aluminum and copper, which were rescinded under administration pressure.

However, they are the source of discussion about the possibility of price controls.

The Labor Department reported that wholesale prices rose 0.5 per cent in January to another all-time high. Prices in primary markets went up to 104.6 per cent of their average level in the 1957-59 base period. They were 3.6 per cent higher than a year ago.

The biggest increases were recorded by farm products and processed foods, but prices of industrial commodities also advanced.

The Labor Department's wholesale price index was reported under careful scrutiny by President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers to determine whether new measures are needed to counter inflationary pressures.

Analysts figured that prices of livestock and meat will rise slightly during the next few months before showing any significant decline.

Hog prices have risen as high as $30.25 a hundred pounds, up 61 per cent from a year ago. Choice steers brought $28.50 a hundred pounds, up 11 per cent in a year. Woolled lambs reached $30 a hundred pounds, a 14-year high and 20 per cent above a year ago.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler commented that price increases recently were "still quite mild" compared with the 1950s or those lately in nearly all other countries.

Even a mild rise is unwelcome, he said, and cautioned that "complacency toward mild increases in costs and prices is an open invitation to more persistent or larger increases."

Fowler added that the government's efforts to find the best mix of monetary credit and fiscal measures won't be adequate "if some groups who enjoy and exercise substantial market power choose to push up or maintain prices or wages at unwarranted levels."

Additional evidence that the business boom is rolling along at full speed accumulated. Gains in personal income and industrial production were reported.

Income rose in January to an annual rate of $551.5 billion, up

Views on Television — Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Daughters of Orange," NBC's news special Sunday night, was an enterprising example of converting film library material, mostly routine, into a gossipy, romantic television feature.

Aline Saarinen, NBC's house expert on art, architecture and royalty, narrated the recent history of Holland's royal house from assorted wintery positions in front of Dutch palaces, NATO headquarters and public parks which gave a degree of immediacy to the great old queen, Wilhelmina, during the terrible days of World War II, and of the rigid upbringing of her daughter, Juliana, who ascended the throne in 1948.

There was the retelling of the about $550 million from December Wages and salaries increased to an annual rate of $373 billion, about $2 billion more than the December rate.

The industrial production index for January climbed to 149.9 per cent of the 1957-59 average from 148.5 per cent in December.

The Commerce Department reported that businesses sharply increased their inventory accumulation late last year. Inventory accumulation jumped to an annual rate of $10.1 billion in the final quarter of 1965 from a $7.6-billion rate in the third quarter.

The Prudential Insurance Co. of America said that stepped-up military activity in Viet Nam, coupled with growing inflation, had caused an upward revision in its economic forecast for 1966.

Its chief economist, Dr. William C. Freund, now sees the gross national product — total of all goods and services — this year at $726 billion, up from the $714 billion prediction issued last November.

family and government crisis created by the queen's association with a woman mystic brought into the family circle in an effort to improve the sight of Juliana's youngest child.

Then we were updated on two royal romances in the best "Prisoner of Zenda" tradition. All this was illustrated by the most pedestrian newsreel film for the most part. Some of the more interesting was 40 and 50 years old.

Biggest disappointment of the whole weekend, however, was CBS' "An Evening With Carol Channing." If the show had been up to Miss Channing's wardrobe, however, it would have been great. It was high-style and enormous.

David McCullum seemed out of place but worked with the star through a dull, polylingual sketch. Miss Channing started one number as the face of Mona Lisa and wound up doing the frug in a leotard. George Burns made jokes about his singing and cigar-smoking. But Miss Channing's clothes were really great.

Man Gives Wife Party, Then Is Slain

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Raymond Pounds helped his wife, Carol, celebrate her 26th birthday at a family party then reported to his part-time job as a clerk. A few hours later he was slain during a robbery.

Police said Pounds, 28, was shot in the back of the head Saturday night with a sawed-off shotgun carried by one of two robbers who escaped with an undetermined amount of cash in a food mart holdup.

Two men were arrested soon after the slaying and held without charge for questioning. A third man was being sought today. Police said the holdup pair was believed to have had an accomplice who waited in a car.

The men in custody were identified by police inspector Maurice Mumford as Thomas Walton Hill, 25, and Joseph Jones, 26, both of Elyria. Mumford said charges probably would be filed today.

Police said the holdup men demanded money from Pounds and a woman check-out clerk who officers declined to identify. The woman handed over the money from her cash register, but Pounds was shot as he turned and started to take the money from his register. He fell to the floor clutching a handful of bills.

A NEW TWIST—Rock 'n' roll singer Chubby Checker—real name Ernest Evans — is shown in the police station in Chicago, under arrest on charge of contributing to delinquency of a minor. The mother of a 17-year-old girl signed the complaint. He's free on $500 bond and is to appear Feb. 28.

Sculptor Sees Similarity Between Lincoln, Johnson

NEW YORK (AP) — "I was struck with the extraordinary political and facial similarities of President Johnson and Abraham Lincoln," says Leo Cherne, who has just completed a bronze head of Johnson.

The sculptured head, somewhat larger than life — 15 inches on a 7-inch black Belgian marble base — will be presented to Johnson in New York Wednesday night.

The President will be given the sculpture as the recipient of the Freedom Award from Freedom House.

Cherne, 53, a political economist, is director of the Research Institute of America, chairman of the International Rescue Committee, and Executive Committee chairman of Freedom House.

But he still finds time to sculpt and quite well indeed. His works are in the White House and Smithsonian Institution.

He estimates he spent seven months on the Johnson project. He took less than an hour each at three visits to the White House and said he felt guilty about it.

"I was keenly aware that the President is an extremely busy man," Cherne said in an interview. "He is heavily burdened, and the weight of the office he carries is real and evident."

"With anyone else I would not hesitate to take up his time, but with President Johnson I definitely felt guilty," Cherne explained.

At one point, Cherne recalled,

the President said: "How long will this take? There is so much I must do."

Cherne, who has sculpted heads of Russian author Boris Pasternak, Albert Schweitzer and Lincoln, said the Johnson assignment had come about after the President had accepted the Lincoln work at the White House.

In his presentation to Johnson, Cherne said, he will tell the awards dinner:

"I hope I have captured something of the weathered flesh and eyes narrowed in their protected encounter with the elements bright and bitter. Perhaps, you will find as I did in the deeply etched grooves of the face, the furrows in the brow some of the lifetime's imprint of care and concern, of hope and frustration, of disappointment contained, high purpose strengthened."

Cherne said Johnson's left profile is "strikingly similar to the man he (Johnson) admired most — Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Of the similarities to Lincoln, Cherne said: "The Johnson I tried to sculpt is the Johnson I see in the frame of Lincoln. Like Lincoln, I believe Johnson is doomed to less than adequate understanding while in the White House."

The World Today

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
For James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is brewing up some trouble for the administration's foreign policy.

The developing tempest is over a matter that has been of continuing irritation to Republicans and Democrats alike.

The issue is continued trade with North Viet Nam by foreign nations friendly to the United States. While the administration claims this trade has slowed down in recent months and has taken some steps to curb it, many members of Congress want an outright ban.

Several bills have been introduced to close U.S. ports to ships which carry cargoes to North Viet Nam. Cargoes loaded in American ports generally are not of military value and are unloaded in ports of friendly nations. However, proponents of the legislation claim, the ships involved visit American ports after having unloaded other cargoes in North Viet Nam.

Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain, R-Mich., who has waged a long campaign against the practice, claims that 401 ships flying flags of non-Communist nations arrived in North Viet Nam in 1964. In 1965, Chamberlain said, the number dropped to 119.

Chamberlain got his figures from the Defense Department and they deal only with unclassified information.

"The true figure is more than double what we are being told," he said, "and it amounts to more arrivals by free world ships than by Communist ships."

Most of the ships, he said, are chartered to Communist nations and carry Communist goods which the Defense Department claims are not vital to North Viet Nam's war effort. But, he emphasized, they release Communist ships to carry war material.

More than half the non-Communist ships that visited North

Viet Nam ports in 1965, Chamberlain said, were registered under the flag of the United Kingdom.

Sponsors of the bills to close U.S. ports to ships trading with North Viet Nam aren't too optimistic about winning their fight in that field. But they have another plan which they believe will work.

They are going to offer amendments to the annual foreign aid and Defense Department appropriation bills to cut off U.S. financial assistance to any nation that allows its ships to continue the trade.

They almost succeeded with that move last year when the House approved an outright ban against aid to those nations. The Senate refused to go along with a strict ban and voted to allow the President to decide whether continued aid was in the best interests of the United States. The House backed down by a vote of 174 to 164, a margin slim enough to be overcome in a congressional election year like 1966.

Bronc Buster....

(Continued from Page 1) The mine had torn off both his legs but the blond, 225-pound soldier stayed by his radio.

"I was the only man who could operate it," he told doctors before he died.

Laier tied rough tourniquets around the stumps of his legs and began calling his company headquarters to tell them of the ambush which killed three men of his unit and injured the remaining 11.

Laier, given 60 blood transfusions, lived 15 days. The doctors did everything to save him.

His father, a foreman at a meat packing plant in this northeast Indiana city of 162,000, said his son was "not one to complain."

"You could not want a better boy than Steve," he said, "he was one in a million."

Fellow soldiers agreed. He was presented a Bronze Star with "V" for valor.

At Lakeside Junior High School, Laier won several trophies for archery. He also played football and had attended North Side High School before enlisting in the Army.

Parttime jobs kept him busy after school and during the summer. He had worked as a stock boy in a discount department store and later behind the counter in a restaurant.

He and his father owned a registered beagle pup, "Car-mi." Steve had hoped to enter him in field trial competition.

Laier's letters home inquired about the dog, his father said.

Nurse Marguerite Giroux helped the spunky soldier write some of these notes from the hospital at Bien Hoa.

"He was so brave that he didn't even want to tell his girl friend that he was so sick," the nurse recalled. "He said she should not have to worry about him."

Letters also were sent to a brother, Joseph L. Laier, in Edgerton, Ohio, two sisters, Karen and Kay, at home, and other friends.

His family later received a tribute to the young radioman written by his commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Jonathan Seaman of the 1st Infantry Division. It read: "With men like Laier, our division, our Army, our country will always be great."

A woman's voice alerts B-58 bomber pilots to trouble. At the same time a pilot sees a flashing red light, he hears a pleasant female voice caution: "Check for engine fire" or "Landing gear unsafe" or "The nose is too high." Pilots say the recordings catch their attention fast. "You might ignore a man's voice — but you don't ignore a woman's," one said.

Clevelanders Expected To Back Hockey Team
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two Cleveland brothers have been mentioned here in reports that Gov. James A. Rhodes will announce this week preliminary plans for a professional hockey team in Columbus.

Rhodes is expected to announce at a breakfast Thursday that Schmelzer Brothers of Cleveland wants to lease the State Fairgrounds Coliseum to operate a team in the International Hockey League.

U.S., Viet Aim At Cong Force

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—American and South Vietnamese troops moved on two fronts against a hard-core regiment of 900 to 1,000 Viet Cong today after the guerrillas rained mortar shells on U.S. Marine and Vietnamese positions during the night.

In the air, the United States lost a jet bomber and two helicopters.

The U.S. 7th Fleet destroyer Orleck joined the ground assault by blasting the coast of Quang Ngai Province with 309 rounds of five-inch shells, either wrecking or damaging more than 100 buildings in an area the Viet Cong have used for rest camps.

The air war continued in North and South Viet Nam. Below the 17th parallel frontier, heavy Communist ground-fire struck two B-57 Canberra tactical bombers flying tight support of South Vietnamese troops closing in on 40 to 50 Viet Cong in an open area.

One of the twin-engine jets crashed with its rear fuel tank ablaze but the pilot, Capt. J. T. Stanley, 34, of New Boston, Tex., and the navigator, Capt. Henry S. Jorgren, 36, of Lisbon Conn., were picked up uninjured by an Army helicopter after bailing out. The other Canberra limped back to Da Nang, 45 miles south of Hue.

Two U.S. Army helicopters collided Sunday about 10 feet off the ground at Bien Hoa, 20 miles northeast of Saigon, killing five Americans. Twelve were injured, a U.S. spokesman said.

U.S. Air Force and Navy pilots returned from missions over North Viet Nam Sunday with reports they hit bridges, roads, storage areas, two radar sites and some staging areas. The heavy bombardment is aimed at slowing the supply of men and arms to the south.

The Strategic Air Command's Guam-based B-52s pounded Bing Duong Province near the Cambodian frontier about 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen did not mention any losses of aircraft.

The U.S. Marines reactivated Operation Double Eagle, while the U.S. 1st Cavalry Airborne Division continued with Operation White Wing to the west in an effort to trap the Communist regiment. The destroyer was called in to make a Viet Cong retreat to the coast as costly as possible.

In an offshoot of Operation White Wing, the 1st Cavalry reported it had killed 34 Viet Cong 13 miles southwest of Bong Son, headquarters for the Allied coastal campaign 300 miles north of Saigon. Since White Wing began, the cavalymen report they have killed 1,072 Viet Cong, captured 246 and seized 202 weapons.

...consumer, owner, too!

The distinction of being the first consumer to receive electric power from South Central Power belongs to the Roy Speakman family of Coonpath Road, Rte. 2, Carroll. And more than 28 years later, Roy and Ella Speakman are still South Central members, consumers, and part owners of the local power company.

Several families were connected to South Central lines on Christmas Eve 1937, but the Speakmans were the first. And like most of their fellow members, the Speakmans have increased their usage of electric power over the years. In fact, South Central installed a central meter pole on the 87-acre Speakman farm last fall to handle the larger load of power.

Roy Speakman remembers that their first purchases after electricity came to his farm were a washing machine and a radio.

"I think it would be impossible for a farmer to get along without electric power today," he said. "We milk 33 cows every day—all with automatic milking machines. South Central's service has improved greatly over the years. I know one thing my wife likes is the Security Light South Central installed. I was in the hospital a while back and she said it was a comfort to her to know that light was burning all night long."

Charter members—the Roy Speakmans—and the first family to actually receive power from South Central. And more than two decades later they are still enjoying the modern and improved benefits of electric energy—from South Central Power Company.

Tigers Turn Back Vikings In 71-67 Overtime Thriller

By STEVE JONES

A thrilling 71-67 overtime victory Circleville cagers garnered over visiting Teays Valley Saturday ended a less than mediocre season on a perfect note for fans of the Red and Black and first year coach Chuck Hill.

It was the first time in the short history of the rivalry between the two schools that Circleville has won a game. It places the Tiger won-lost record at 5-13 for the season.

Amazing accuracy from the field and at the foul line on the part of the Roundtowners, coupled with a 1-3-1 zone the visitors could not effectively crack, provided the difference in the game.

The Tiger cagers made good on a solid 55 per cent of their field goals and converted 88 per cent of their foul shot tries.

IN FACT, the difference came at the charity stripe. Circleville outscored Teays Valley, 15-7, in this department.

The Vikings were well below their accuracy average both from the field and at the line. They hit 40 per cent of their field goal tries and only 50 per cent of their free throws.

In compiling their shooting average, the Tigers hit 28 of 51 field goal tries and 15 of 17 foul shots. In the regulation 32 minutes, the Tigers never missed a foul shot.

The Vikings hit 30 of 75 shots from the field and seven of 14 times from the foul lane.

Contributing to the comparative inability of Teays Valley to connect on their shots was Circleville's tight 1-3-1 zone. The Vikings could not hit from the outside, and although they were dominating play under the boards, their rebound tips were not falling through the hoop.

In the second half alone, Teays Valley's forward wall had 15 offensive rebounds. In the game they outrebounded Circleville, 38-31. All but five of Circleville's grabs came under the defensive board.

THE FIRST quarter saw most of the shooting at a dis-

Campbell, who usually smokes about six cigars a round of golf, puffed his way "through seven or eight" stogies Sunday as he shot a steady 70 and whipped Gene Littler in a sudden-death playoff for the $9,000 first prize in the Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

Campbell finished with steady rounds of 69-70-69-70 for a 10-under-par total of 278 over the giant Tucson National golf course, a wide open desert lay-out with some of the biggest greens in the country.

Littler, who shot 71-71-68-68—278, won $5,000 for second. R. H. Sikes and brothers Jay and Lionel Hebert each picked up $3,400 for their 280 finishes.

Tommy Aaron, Doug Sanders and George Archer each won $2,316 for their 281 scores.

Campbell's pay check gives him $14,945 in total 1966 money and ranks him fourth behind Arnold Palmer, Sanders and Billy Casper.

Royals Gain A Little in NBA Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics and Philadelphia 76ers rested Sunday, but the other contender in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division — the Cincinnati Royals — didn't. In fact, the Royals struggled.

Cincinnati, with Oscar Robertson leading the way, outscored Detroit 39-26 in the third quarter and then withstood a fourth-period piston rally for a 133-129 victory.

The triumph moved the Royals to within three games of the first-place Celtics and to within 2½ games of the 76ers.

The Eastern title scramble continues tonight when the Celtics play at Los Angeles, and the Royals take on the 76ers at Dayton, Ohio.

In the only other Sunday game, St. Louis lost a 20-point lead in the last 10 minutes but edged Baltimore 126-123.

Saturday, Boston nipped Los Angeles 115-111, New York downed Cincinnati 124-113 and Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 23-119.

SURROUNDED — Tim Stonerock (24), flanked by Rod Teets (55), Gayle Fosnaugh (31), Gary Wilson (right) and Butch Kinsell (15), fires for a two-point tally. Stonerock's 29 points was the leading offensive effort in the game, won by Circleville.

tance of 15 feet or more from the basket.

Circleville popped right out to a 4-0 lead. But veteran Viking guard Gerald Green sparked a surge that pulled Teays Valley to a 15-11 first quarter lead.

The Vikings held on to a two to four point lead until the last two minutes of the second quarter.

Tim Stonerock put Circleville ahead 30-28. Danny Speakman added a pair of charity tosses to make the score 32-28.

For the Vikings Rod Teets hit a foul shot in the last minute of the half, but just as the buzzer sounded, Jim Diltz swished a long jumper and the Tigers went to the dressing room holding a 34-29 margin.

For the entire third quarter Circleville held the lead, although never more than eight points at any time. The score was 51-48 as the fourth period got under way.

MIKE STONE, who came off the bench midway through the third period spearheaded a rally for the Vikings. He made the first bucket of the fourth quarter, added a foul shot and tied the score at 51-51. Tim Stonerock then hit a pair of foul shots moving Circleville in front by two.

The score was tied again at 53-53, 55-55 and 57-57. At that point Joe Winner hit a foul shot to put the Tigers up by one and Stonerock cashed in a field goal and Circleville was up by three.

Rod Teets tipped in a shot and Stone hit from deep in the corner with less than two minutes to go on the Vikings were leading by one.

Stonerock added a pair to give Circleville a one-point lead with less than one minute to play.

Then Stonerock rebounded a missed Viking shot but was fouled by Green. He hit the shot at the charity stripe and with 15 seconds to go, the Tigers led by two.

In the last 15 seconds, the Vikings brought the ball down the floor, Kinsell fired a shot that missed but bounced into the hands of Stone. He put it through just before the quarter ended, to deadlock things.

In the overtime, Jimmy Diltz scored the first bucket, Stonerock came back to score and then Diltz added a free throw before Ron Leatherwood hit a

Tiger Wrestlers Post Win Over Wilmington Hurricane

The Circleville wrestling squad defeated Wilmington Saturday, 27-14, in an encounter at Wilmington.

The Hurricane is the only other team in the South Central Ohio League that has organized wrestling squad.

"For only its second year of competition, Wilmington has a real good team," CHS coach Dave LaBounty commented. "But our boys really wanted to win."

Tigers moved off to a winning start when 106-pounder Steve Nelson decided his foe, 10-4; 112-pounder Mark Lindsey copped a 5-0 decision and John Butts pinned Gerard of Wilmington in 5:02.

CRAIG BENZENBERG lost a 7-5 decision. Dean Martin pinned Ehlerding in 3:30, but Carl Hoffman was decided by Robertson, 6-2.

In the 145-pound class, Ronnie Miller decided Adair, 8-0. Jim Campbell lost to Gordley, 8-2 in the 154 class.

Jim Archer needed only 46 seconds to put Murphey's shoulders to the mat in the 165-pound class and Tom Fletcher won his eighth in a row, deciding Walker, 2-0. Circleville forfeited the heavyweight class.

Fletcher's mark of nine wins and two losses is the best for a Tiger grappler. Archer has a 10-4 mark.

Wrestling tournament pairings will be held Tuesday. Circleville competes in the Whetstone sectional beginning 1 p. m. Saturday. Two wrestlers from each weight class go from the sectional to the district meet.

Sportsmen Plan Second Fish Contest

The Pickaway Farmer and Sportsmen Assn. has initiated action to start another fishing contest.

Details of the contest will be announced later.

In other action taken during its February meeting, the group went on record as approving the proposed YMCA for Circleville.

The Pickaway County Fair-board has donated a building to the organization to use for an indoor rifle range and meeting room.

In tentative plans discussed, the sportsmen hope to add an additional room to the building.

The building donated is the large frame structure between the Coliseum and the 4-H and Grange building.

Pickaway County Game Protector Russ Tippet placed 1,000 pounds of cracked corn throughout the county for game birds during the recent snow. The feed was purchased by the club.

Dick Redman, secretary, reported the fox control program will be continued this year. Persons interested in having the animals eliminated may contact a member of the club.

Syracuse University is in its 65th basketball season.

Mustang Unit Is Runnerup In Tourney

The Westfall freshmen fell victim to Indianola ninth graders, 78-65, in invitational tournament play Saturday night at Reynoldsburg.

The game was the final event of the tourney. The little Mustangs were awarded the runner-up trophy.

Gene Carfrey, Eddie Cornwell and Bob Barnes scored 17, 16, 13 points respectively for the losers. Penn of Indianola had a game high of 30 markers.

The first half saw the little Mustangs staying with the winners. But in the third quarter Indianola spurred to a 60-44 lead and then coasted to the win.

Westfall Mustangs Dump St. Mary from Tourney

Westfall dumped Columbus St. Mary from the Class A tournament trail Saturday afternoon at the Teays Valley sectional by winning 78-64 in a game much closer than the final score would indicate.

It was not until the final minute of the game the Mustangs were able to open a decisive lead.

The game was marked by confusion and roughness during the last minute of play. The clock failed and it was necessary to keep time at the scorers' bench with a stop watch.

The confusion caused by the lack of knowledge as to how much time remained did little to curb the mele that was taking place on the floor.

TEMPERS flared in the final stages. Two boys, one from each team, were ejected by the officials when fists began to fly at one point with only seconds remaining.

The score was 19-13 at the end of the first quarter. And that six-point lead was the largest Westfall could open during the first half.

The second period saw the Rams begin to close the margin. With 3:07 to go Bob Leach sank a pair of free throws that knotted the score at 25-25. Ten seconds later Mike Potochina was fouled and the Rams took the lead, 27-25, on his two free throws.

St. Mary managed to hold on to a slim lead until the buzzer sounded to end the quarter.

Westfall's Delbert Haney was fouled at this point. With other members of both teams heading toward the dressing room, he converted both shots to give his mates a 34-33 halftime margin.

In the third quarter, Westfall widened its margin by three points and then never trailed.

HOWEVER, they could never get the rally going to get a commanding lead. As the final quarter started, the score stood at 57-52.

During the first stages of the last period, the two teams traded buckets. With 4:19 showing on the clock and the score 63-58 in favor of the Mustangs, they started to slow the game down.

After controlling the ball for nearly 1½ minutes the Mustangs lost on a miscue when a player in control of the ball stepped across the 10-second line.

Potochina was then fouled and connected on the one-and-one to narrow the margin to three points with 2:34 remaining.

Before the Mustangs could get the ball across the 10 second line, the Rams fouled to break up any attempt to stall out the game.

Haney made the first of a one-and-one and missed the second.

Leach of St. Mary was fouled on the rebound, but missed at the charity stripe. Westfall came own with the rebound, but immediately lost the ball.

Potochina was again fouled and converted both tries. The score stood at 64-62 with 2:09 remaining.

At this point the Mustangs began to move. And in the last two minutes they outscored the Rams, 14-2.

WITH only a minute showing on the scoreboard, the clock quit functioning properly.

The leading scorer in the game was Tom Beard of Westfall who hit seven field goals and six foul shots for 20 points.

Tom Scribner and Tom Hamman had 13 points each. Brad Thompson scored 10 and Neil Coleman nine. Ray Mowery, Willis Conley tallied four each and Delbert Haney five.

The Eastern title scramble continues tonight when the Celtics play at Los Angeles, and the Royals take on the 76ers at Dayton, Ohio.

In the only other Sunday game, St. Louis lost a 20-point lead in the last 10 minutes but edged Baltimore 126-123.

Saturday, Boston nipped Los Angeles 115-111, New York downed Cincinnati 124-113 and Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 23-119.

tance of 15 feet or more from the basket.

Circleville popped right out to a 4-0 lead. But veteran Viking guard Gerald Green sparked a surge that pulled Teays Valley to a 15-11 first quarter lead.

The Vikings held on to a two to four point lead until the last two minutes of the second quarter.

Tim Stonerock put Circleville ahead 30-28. Danny Speakman added a pair of charity tosses to make the score 32-28.

For the Vikings Rod Teets hit a foul shot in the last minute of the half, but just as the buzzer sounded, Jim Diltz swished a long jumper and the Tigers went to the dressing room holding a 34-29 margin.

For the entire third quarter Circleville held the lead, although never more than eight points at any time. The score was 51-48 as the fourth period got under way.

MIKE STONE, who came off the bench midway through the third period spearheaded a rally for the Vikings. He made the first bucket of the fourth quarter, added a foul shot and tied the score at 51-51. Tim Stonerock then hit a pair of foul shots moving Circleville in front by two.

The score was tied again at 53-53, 55-55 and 57-57. At that point Joe Winner hit a foul shot to put the Tigers up by one and Stonerock cashed in a field goal and Circleville was up by three.

Rod Teets tipped in a shot and Stone hit from deep in the corner with less than two minutes to go as the Vikings were leading by one.

Stonerock added a pair to give Circleville a one-point lead with less than one minute to play.

Then Stonerock rebounded a missed Viking shot but was fouled by Green. He hit the shot at the charity stripe and with 15 seconds to go, the Tigers led by two.

In the last 15 seconds, the Vikings brought the ball down the floor, Kinsell fired a shot that missed but bounced into the hands of Stone. He put it through just before the quarter ended, to deadlock things.

In the overtime, Jimmy Diltz scored the first bucket, Stonerock came back to score and then Diltz added a free throw before Ron Leatherwood hit a

Tiger Wrestlers Post Win Over Wilmington Hurricane

The Circleville wrestling squad defeated Wilmington Saturday, 27-14, in an encounter at Wilmington.

The Hurricane is the only other team in the South Central Ohio League that has organized wrestling squad.

"For only its second year of competition, Wilmington has a real good team," CHS coach Dave LaBounty commented. "But our boys really wanted to win."

Tigers moved off to a winning start when 106-pounder Steve Nelson decided his foe, 10-4; 112-pounder Mark Lindsey copped a 5-0 decision and John Butts pinned Gerard of Wilmington in 5:02.

CRAIG BENZENBERG lost a 7-5 decision. Dean Martin pinned Ehlerding in 3:30, but Carl Hoffman was decided by Roberson, 6-2.

In the 145-pound class, Ronnie Miller decided Adair, 8-0. Jim Campbell lost to Gordley, 8-2 in the 154 class.

Jim Archer needed only 46 seconds to put Murphy's shoulders to the mat in the 165-pound class and Tom Fletcher won his eighth in a row, deciding Walker, 2-0. Circleville forfeited the heavyweight class.

Fletcher's mark of nine wins and two losses is the best for a Tiger grappler. Archer has a 10-4 mark.

Wrestling tournament pairings will be held Tuesday. Circleville competes in the Whetstone sectional beginning 1 p. m. Saturday. Two wrestlers from each weight class go from the sectional to the district meet.

Sportsmen Plan Second Fish Contest

The Pickaway Farmer and Sportsmen Assn. has initiated action to start another fishing contest.

Details of the contest will be announced later.

In other action taken during its February meeting, the group went on record as approving the proposed YMCA for Circleville.

The Pickaway County Fair-board has donated a building to the organization to use for an indoor rifle range and meeting room.

In tentative plans discussed, the sportsmen hope to add an additional room to the building. The building donated is the large frame structure between the Coliseum and the 4-H and Grange building.

Pickaway County Game Protector Russ Tippet placed 1,000 pounds of cracked corn throughout the county for game birds during the recent snow. The feed was purchased by the club.

Dick Redman, secretary, reported the fox control program will be continued this year. Persons interested in having the animals eliminated may contact a member of the club.

Mustang Unit Is Runnerup In Tourney

The Westfall freshmen fell victim to Indiana ninth graders, 78-65, in invitational tournament play Saturday night at Reynoldsburg.

The game was the final event of the tourney. The little Mustangs were awarded the runner-up trophy.

Gene Carfrey, Eddie Cornwell and Bob Barnes scored 17, 16, 13 points respectively for the losers. Penn of Indiana had a game high of 30 markers.

The first half saw the little Mustangs staying with the winners. But in the third quarter Indiana spurred to a 60-44 lead and then coasted to the win.

Syracuse University is in its 65th basketball season.

Westfall Mustangs Dump St. Mary from Tourney

Westfall dumped Columbus St. Mary from the Class A tournament trail Saturday afternoon at the Teays Valley sectional by winning 78-64 in a game much closer than the final score would indicate.

It was not until the final minute of the game the Mustangs were able to open a decisive lead.

The game was marked by confusion and roughness during the last minute of play. The clock failed and it was necessary to keep time at the scorers' bench with a stop watch.

The confusion caused by the lack of knowledge as to how much time remained did little to curb the mele that was taking place on the floor.

TEMPERS flared in the final stages. Two boys, one from each team, were ejected by the officials when fists began to fly at one point with only seconds remaining.

The score was 19-13 at the end of the first quarter. And that six-point lead was the largest Westfall could open during the first half.

The second period saw the Rams begin to close the margin. With 3:07 to go Bob Leach sank a pair of free throws that knotted the score at 25-25. Ten seconds later Mike Potochina was fouled and the Rams took the lead, 27-25, on his two free throws.

St. Mary managed to hold on to a slim lead until the buzzer sounded to end the quarter.

Westfall's Delbert Haney was fouled at this point. With other members of both teams heading toward the dressing room, he converted both shots to give his mates a 34-33 halftime margin.

In the third quarter, Westfall widened its margin by three points and then never trailed.

HOWEVER, they could never get the rally going to get a commanding lead. As the final quarter started, the score stood at 57-52.

During the first stages of the last period, the two teams traded buckets. With 4:19 showing on the clock and the score 63-58 in favor of the Mustangs, they started to slow the game down.

After controlling the ball for nearly 1½ minutes the Mustangs lost on a miscue when a player in control of the ball stepped across the 10-second line.

Potochina was then fouled and connected on the one-and-one to narrow the margin to three points with 2:34 remaining.

Before the Mustangs could get the ball across the 10 second line, the Rams fouled to break up any attempt to stall out the game.

Haney made the first of a one-and-one and missed the second.

Leach of St. Mary was fouled on the rebound, but missed at the charity stripe. Westfall came own with the rebound, but immediately lost the ball.

Potochina was again fouled and converted both tries. The score stood at 64-62 with 2:09 remaining.

At this point the Mustangs began to move. And in the last two minutes they outscored the Rams, 14-2.

WITH only a minute showing on the scoreboard, the clock quit functioning properly.

The leading scorer in the game was Tom Beard of Westfall who hit seven field goals and six foul shots for 20 points. Tom Scribner and Tom Hamman had 13 points each. Brad Thompson scored 10 and Neil Coleman nine. Ray Mowery, Willis Conley tallied four each and Delbert Haney five.

Potochina was high for the losers as he converted two field goals and 15 foul shots for a total of 19.

The Mustangs hit 25 of 52 tries from the field for a 48 per cent average. They also canned 28 of 41 foul shot tries.

The Rams connected on 21 of 48 field goal attempts for a 38 per cent rate. They hit 28 of 39 tries at the foul line.

Westfall outrebounded the losers, 43-39, but committed 17 turnovers. St. Mary bobbed 14.

NEXT game for Westfall comes tonight when they host Piketon in a Scioto Valley Conference tilt. Assured of a tie, a win for the Mustangs would give them undisputed claim on the league crown.

Next Saturday they meet Academy High School at 7 p. m. Academy had a record of six wins and eight losses at the time of the tournament drawing two weeks ago in Columbus.

Miami, Toledo Set for Showdown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Miami is still in the driver's seat in the Mid-American Conference basketball chase but could find itself in the runner-up spot after action this weekend.

The Redskins (10-1) journey to Toledo Saturday for a showdown match with the Rockets (8-1).

The surging Toledoans could cut the margin to a half game with a victory over Western Michigan Wednesday, but there are a lot of "ifs" in the race.

If Miami whips Toledo Saturday, the Redskins earn the title outright. If Toledo prevails, it will hold first place, but it still has on its schedule Ohio University at Athens March 2. A loss to the Bobcats would force a tie and a playoff for the championship for the second straight year.

The Rockets got a scare from Marshall last Saturday but Bill Backenstole stole the ball twice in the closing minute and drove

Duke, Davidson May Be Best of Non-Champions

Both Teams Face Task of Winning League Tourneys

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's time once again for Duke and Davidson, two of the better college basketball teams in the country, to find out if they once again will be the two best non-champions in the country.

Davidson has held that status for the past two years while Duke strayed into that area last year.

In the case of these two teams, a nonchampion is one that finishes on top of its league in regular-season play but which loses in the league's post-season tournament, thereby missing out on the championship and a berth in the NCAA tournament.

Davidson, loser of only one of 12 Southern Conference contests this season, opens its bid Thursday for the championship that has eluded it the past two years.

Duke, the nation's second-ranked team, has clinched top seeding in the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament with an 11-1 record. The Blue Devils complete their regular schedule this week with league games against Wake Forest and North Carolina.

In the opening Southern Conference game, the Wildcats take on The Citadel, a team they've already beaten twice this season. But based on recent history, that should be no indication of the outcome this time.

Two years ago Davidson lost in the semifinals to Virginia Military 82-81 after stopping VMI twice earlier in the season. Then last year West Virginia, a two-time loser, edged the Wildcats 74-72 in overtime in a semi-final game.

Duke fared only slightly better in the ACC last season, winning two tournament games before losing to North Carolina State 91-85 in the final.

In this year's tournament, March 3-5, the Blue Devils could open against South Carolina, the only conference team to beat them this season.

Both Davidson and Duke won Saturday night, the Wildcats bringing their record to 17-5 with a 77-64 triumph over The Citadel and the Blue Devils making their mark 19-2 by trimming Maryland 74-69.

Unbeaten Kentucky, the nation's No. 1 team, won its 21st edging Mississippi State 73-69, while unbeaten Texas Western, No. 3, nipped Pan American 65-61 for its 20th victory and fifth straight squeaker.

All of the other teams in the Top Ten won with No. 10 Michigan bombing Purdue 128-94 despite Dave Schellhase's 57 points.

Chicago Loyola, No. 4, avenged an earlier defeat by Wichita, downing the Shockers 94-77. Fifth-ranked Vanderbilt remained two games behind Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference with an 89-86 triumph over Florida.

No. 6 Providence knocked off Seton Hall 77-57, seventh-ranked Kansas overwhelmed Oklahoma State 80-47, St. Joseph's, No. 8, outlasted Creighton 96-90 and ninth-ranked Nebraska whipped Missouri 71-53.

In various conferences races, Michigan took a two-game lead in the Big Ten when Wisconsin nipped Michigan State 78-77; Cincinnati tightened its hold on the Missouri Valley lead by downing Tulsa 88-75; Penn held its one-game Ivy lead with an 84-66 victory over Cornell.

Oregon State lost to Southern California 70-60 but still has a two-game lead in the Pacific Athletic Conference, and Utah State kept a one-game lead in the Western Athletic, beating Arizona State 92-76.

in for clinching layups in a 76-68 triumph.

Miami, outside the league, took a 75-60 thumping from strong Dayton as the Flyers, 19-4, hit 52 per cent from the floor.

Potent Cincinnati, 9-3, moved within one victory of the Missouri Valley crown with an easy 88-75 verdict over Tulsa. The Bearcats could nail down the title with a victory at Wichita Tuesday.

Ohio State clawed back from a 12-point deficit but finally yielded to Iowa 86-80 in a Big Ten skirmish and sent the Bucks down to a 3-6 mark, only a game out of the basement.

Ohio University dropped Kent State 88-75 and Western Michigan broke a six-game losing streak by handing Bowling Green its fourth loss in a row, 66-63, in other MAC activity.

Youngstown, which already has accepted a bid to play in the small college NCAA Mid-east Regional at Akron, bowed to Hillsdale, 81-66; Central State racked up its fourth success of the week by blasting Detroit College 98-75; John Kahle netted 40 points as Heidelberg clipped Wilmington 102-83 and Findlay outlasted Ohio Northern 98-88.

Akron and Mount Union won and earned a share of the Ohio Conference regular season championship with 11-2 records. Akron had no trouble disposing of Wittenberg 60-44 but Mount Union had its hands full with lowly Capital but finally shaded the upset-minded Crusaders 65-64.

Otterbein took third place by beating Baldwin-Wallace 102-77 and Wooster missed a chance to tie for third when Denison upset the Scots, 70-64.

In others, Marietta bombed Ohio Wesleyan 94-64; Kenyon tripped Oberlin 75-71; Hiram socked Muskingum 85-70; Steubenville downed Bellarmine 82-72 in a game delayed one hour and 70 minutes by a power failure; Grace defeated Malone 83-73 and Rio Grande thrashed Walsh 97-64.

"ILLUSION," a futuristic "dream car" by Dave Puhl of Palestine, Ill., is in the running at the 18th annual Grand National Roadster Show in Oakland, Calif. The vehicle has a wrap-around windshield and looks somewhat sliced in half. More than 150 hand-crafted cars are competing for awards.

Pasarell Wins Indoor Net Crown

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — When Charlie Pasarell was a 14-year-old tennis prodigy down in Santee, P.R., eight years ago, he had a temper tantrum on the court and drew a sharp reprimand from his father.

"I was heavily favored and when I didn't beat this kid easily, I got sore and banged all the balls to the other side of the court, almost hitting my opponent," Charlie recalled today.

"My father was on the sidelines. He walked out on the court, grabbed me by the ear and said, 'Get off the court.'"

"I said, 'You can't pull me out of this tournament.'"

"He said, 'You're out of it.' And I was. That night, I went home and apologized. It taught me a big lesson."

Today, Charlie Pasarell, now 22, composed and his massive temper harnessed, is the hottest court commodity in the United States.

He won the National Indoor Championship here Sunday, beating Ron Holmberg of Dallas in the final 12-10, 10-8, 8-6 and surviving perhaps the most imposing field ever to play in the hardboard event.

Casualties included Dennis Ralston, Arthur Ashe, Manuel Santana of Spain, defending titleholder Jan-Erik Lundquist of Sweden, Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, Tomas Oko cho Bfalr and Rafael Osuna of Mexico.

Ohio State clawed back from a 12-point deficit but finally yielded to Iowa 86-80 in a Big Ten skirmish and sent the Bucks down to a 3-6 mark, only a game out of the basement.

Ohio University dropped Kent State 88-75 and Western Michigan broke a six-game losing streak by handing Bowling Green its fourth loss in a row, 66-63, in other MAC activity.

Youngstown, which already has accepted a bid to play in the small college NCAA Mid-east Regional at Akron, bowed to Hillsdale, 81-66; Central State racked up its fourth success of the week by blasting Detroit College 98-75; John Kahle netted 40 points as Heidelberg clipped Wilmington 102-83 and Findlay outlasted Ohio Northern 98-88.

Akron and Mount Union won and earned a share of the Ohio Conference regular season championship with 11-2 records.

Akron had no trouble disposing of Wittenberg 60-44 but Mount Union had its hands full with lowly Capital but finally shaded the upset-minded Crusaders 65-64.

Otterbein took third place by beating Baldwin-Wallace 102-77 and Wooster missed a chance to tie for third when Denison upset the Scots, 70-64.

In others, Marietta bombed Ohio Wesleyan 94-64; Kenyon tripped Oberlin 75-71; Hiram socked Muskingum 85-70; Steubenville downed Bellarmine 82-72 in a game delayed one hour and 70 minutes by a power failure; Grace defeated Malone 83-73 and Rio Grande thrashed Walsh 97-64.

"ILLUSION," a futuristic "dream car" by Dave Puhl of Palestine, Ill., is in the running at the 18th annual Grand National Roadster Show in Oakland, Calif. The vehicle has a wrap-around windshield and looks somewhat sliced in half. More than 150 hand-crafted cars are competing for awards.

Pasarell Wins Indoor Net Crown

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — When Charlie Pasarell was a 14-year-old tennis prodigy down in Santurce, P.R., eight years ago, he had a temper tantrum on the court and drew a sharp reprimand from his father.

"I was heavily favored and when I didn't beat this kid easily, I got sore and banged all the balls to the other side of the court, almost hitting my opponent," Charlie recalled today.

"My father was on the sidelines. He walked out on the court, grabbed me by the ear and said, 'Get out the court.'"

"I said, 'You can't pull me out of this tournament.'"

"He said, 'You're out of it.' And I was. That night, I went home and apologized. It taught me a big lesson."

Today, Charlie Pasarell, now 22, composed and his massive temper harnessed, is the hottest court commodity in the United States.

He won the National Indoor Championship here Sunday, beating Ron Holmberg of Dallas in the final 12-10, 10-8, 8-6 and surviving perhaps the most imposing field ever to play in the hardboard event.

Casualties included Dennis Ralston, Arthur Ashe, Manuel Santana of Spain, defending titleholder Jan-Erik Lundquist of Sweden, Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, Tomas Koc of Czechoslovakia and Rafael Osuna of Mexico.

Rotary Observes 61st Birthday

Rotary International will celebrate its 61st birthday Wednesday, with the Circleville Club scheduled to join in the special observance.

Rotary was founded Feb. 23, 1905, in Chicago. The local club's plans for marking the milestone include an annual Farmer Day luncheon on Thursday. Each member has been requested to bring an area farmer as his guest.

Richard Plum, president of the local Rotary club, said, "The celebration of this occasion is global in scope for there are more than 12,200 Rotary clubs and 581,500 Rotarians in 131 countries."

Rotary meetings marking the birthday occasion will be held in many languages, including Arabic, Burmese, Flemish, Gaelic, Korean, Japanese and Persian.

THE ROTARY CLUB of Circleville, organized in 1922, has 90 members. Each a business or professional man in this community.

Since membership is composed of one man from each business or professional activity, the local club represents a cross-section of the city's business life. This basis for membership began with the first club and has continued through the years to become a major characteristic of the Rotary organization.

The program of Rotary in each community is determined by the local club itself. In Circleville the club sponsors visits by the Bloodmobile.

The local club is grouped with approximately 30 other Rotary clubs in this area to form a Rotary district.

President Plum said the purpose of Rotary in this community, as in other areas, is to make Circleville a better place to live and to raise happy, healthy families.

2 University Students Die in Canoe Mishap

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. (AP)—Towboat Captain Eugene Bartley of Portsmouth, Ohio, and two sons rescued one youth but two others, students at Youngstown University in Ohio, drowned in a canoeing accident Saturday.

Huey Harper, 20, of nearby Center Twp., and Edwin C. Sekinger, 25, of Youngstown were lost in the Ohio River after their canoe capsized in heavy currents. Joseph L. Lampich, 19, of Aliquippa managed to cling to the towboat until the Bartleys threw him a line.

Seminar Due On Federal Aid Programs

Congressman William H. Harsha will sponsor a Federal Seminar for county, city and village officials to provide data concerning new and expended federal aid programs of possible use in his 6th District. Experts representing several federal and state agencies will speak, answer questions and provide information kits.

The event is scheduled Mar. 11 at The Holiday Inn in Portsmouth and will be in session from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Invitations will be extended to officials from Pickaway, Adams, Brown, Clermont, Fayette, Highland, Pike, Ross and Scioto Counties.

Panel sessions will stress programs for sewer and water facility grants and loans, public facility loans, public works planning, urban development assistance, aid to villages with populations under 5,500, the Appalachia program and the anti-poverty program as it relates to smaller counties and cities. Final program details will be released soon.

"I have receive so many inquiries about these new programs," Harsha said, "that a seminar bringing experts into our area to meet with local officials seemed necessary." Not all federal aid programs apply to our communities nor is there enthusiasm to get involved in some, but it is important that our commissioners, mayors, councilmen and engineers have complete information so they can make the proper decisions," Harsha commented.

He said the seminar is not designed to promote any federal programs — rather it will center around an explanation of the programs and allow for questions from those in attendance. A registration fee of $5 per person will be charged to cover the cost of a coffee hour, luncheon and a kit of materials.

Sertoma Club Puts Emphasis On Freedom

Circleville's Sertoma Club is placing special emphasis on "Freedom Week" which started Sunday.

A campaign denoting the slogan "Speak Up for Freedom" will be accentuated by the local organization, as well as Sertoma Clubs across the nation. Mayor Ben H. Gordon has issued a proclamation to this effect on behalf of the city.

Sertomans launched their program here early today by presenting copies of the Declaration of Independence to all 7th graders in the Circleville area. All grade school buildings received large framed copies for classroom use.

The presentation to 7th graders was made at S. Court St. School at 8:30 a. m. The second presentation was held at 9 a. m. at St. Joseph's School.

THE OBJECTIVE of Freedom Week is to emphasize the desire to protect and preserve the nation's free way of life.

Donald Gilmore is serving as chairman of Sertoma's local effort. Working on his committee are John Jenkins, David Sealock, Roger Thomas, Gary George, Larry Mets and Manley Carothers.

Women Shun Sewing; City To Lose Plant

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—An official of the Ohio State Employment Service has been unable to find 50 women willing to do sewing machine work so Norwalk may lose an industrial prospect. Jim Woods of the OSES's district office said the company, which he did not name, probably will decide to locate elsewhere.
